A CYCLONE'S GRASP

West Indian Storm Devastates a Section of Country.

THE WIND BLEW GREAT GUNS

Only One Fatality as Yet Reported But It is Feared the Loss of Life Has Been Great on Some of the Islands.

DAMAGE TO SHIPPING REPORTED

SAVANNAH, Ga., October 3.—For fifteen hours, from 3 o'clock Saturday morning until 6 o'clock last evening, Savannah has been in the grasp of a West Indian cyclone. During that time the wind blew steadily from fifty to seventy miles an hour. While the city escaped with comparative little damage, the loss of property among the sea islands of the Georgia and South Carolina coasts is believed to be heavy. For miles in every direction around Savannah the lowlands along the rivers are submerged.

Only one fatality has so far been reported—the drowning of a negro while attempting to reach the main land from a small island near Thunderbolt—but heavy loss of life is feared on the South Carolina sea islands, where such fearful loss of life occurred during the great tidal storms of 1893. The conditions now are similar to those during that storm. Owing to the submerged country and the isolated location of the islands no news can be had from them until the water subsides.

For eight miles north of Savannah the entire country is a lake with only the humlocks visible. At noon the water was eight feet above the highest tide. Driven on shore by the northeast storm it filed upon the islands, swept over the banks and dams, carrying away the remnant of the rice crop that was left by the August storm and had not been gathered, and wiping out farm crops.

The loss to rice growers alone will be from $50,000 to $75,000. Of the entire rice crop along the Savannah, valued at $250,000, all but 15 per cent. was lost in this and the preceding storm.

The damage to shipping is considerable. The schooner Governor Ames, which was on her way to sea with a cargo of 1,500,000 feet of lumber, went adrift in the harbor but was secured safely. The wharves at the quarantine station at the entrance of the harbor here were partly carried away. The quarantine officer and his family and servants were rescued early in the day by a tug. Four vessels which were at anchor at the station were torn from their moorings and driven into the marshes. Three of these were the British schooner Syanara, bound for St. John's, N. B.; the American schooner Millville, for Millville, N. J.; Fannie L. Child, for Boston, all lumber laden, and the Italian bark Franklin. How badly these vessels are damaged is unknown. No news has been received from Tybee since early in the morning and nothing is known of the damage there. At Thunderbolt and Isle of Hope, suburbs of Savannah, all the boat houses on the banks and hundreds of small boats were carried away.

The extent to which the railroads suffered is not fully known. The naval stores and cotton and lumber yards of the Plant system are submerged and the tracks of the Central of Georgia and Georgia and Alabama roads around the city are covered. The north bound express on the F. C. and P. road, due here from Florida at noon, has not yet arrived. Telegraph wires, except one wire over the Western Union lines, are down and the condition of the tracks unknown. A special train will be sent out this morning over the F. C. and P. road south. All other roads are operating and the F. C. and P. is running north of Atlanta.

On Hutchinson's island, opposite Savannah and separating the city from the South Carolina shore, there were many negro families rescued by boats from the revenue steamers Tybee and Boutwell. One man with a child in his arms, holding the little child above his shoulders, started to cross the dams with the water up to his body. His wife, with another child, stood in the window of their house, the floor of which was already flooded by the rising water, and watched her husband feel his way, step by step, along the top of the treacherous dam, one false step from which, or a caving bank, would throw him into a swift moving current. Finally he was sighted from across the river on the city side. A tow boat put off and after half an hour's effort the family was rescued. Upwards of a hundred people were brought from the island to the city in boats.

J. K. P. Hall to be Defeated.

Democrats are known for successful blundering, but perhaps they never succeeded better than when they nominated James Knox Polk Hall, for Congress, at DuBois on Thursday. Hall is well known in Centre county where he at one time tried to throttle the Democracy and force them to support him in preference to Hon. A G. Curtin, and succeeded in dividing the party in a way that it did not recover from the schock for years. There is a Hall dynasty in Elk county, but it does not reach beyond the county line and Mr. Hall will find the Democrats are not as pliable in Clearfield, Centre and Clarion as they are in Elk, and when the votes are counted Mr. Arnold will lead his competitor greater than he did Spangler two years ago. Arnold's election to congress, for the third term, has been practically assumed by the action of the democratic conference.

The Dons Are Hopeful.

MADRID, Oct. 3.—The conciliatory and cordial spirit shown by the delegates to the Paris conference has produced a favorable impression.

The newspapers, discussing the proceedings of the conference, affect to believe that the United States besides respecting Spanish sovereignty in the Philippines, will also allow Spain to have a share in the settlement of the new regime in Cuba. Inspired articles assert that Spain will undertake to carry out the promised guarantees of the Cuban debts only until Cuba herself is able to pay the interest and sinking fund.

A dispatch to the Imparcial from Paris declares that both the Spanish and American commissioners have been instructed to act ad referendum.

President to Address Railroad Employes.

CHICAGO, October 2.—Arrangements have been made by President McKinley to address a meeting composed exclusively of railroad employes Thursday afternoon, October 20, in the First regiment armory. Two other railway demonstrations will be held in Chicago during the two days following the peace jubilee. The allied organizations under whose auspices these functions will be held are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of locomotive Firemen, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Railway Telegraphers' union.

—The only jury case that was tried at the special term of court held here last week was that of David Rothrock Adm. of Henry Rothrock, Dec'd., Thomas Rothrock, John Rothrock and Alice R. Long vs Henry Rothrock, Jr., with notice to John Woods, George Garbrick, Sara Kelley, William Kelley and David Kelley terra tenants. A scire facias on mortgage to recover balance of unpaid purchase money. Verdict for plaintiffs in the sum of $5,345.94, of which amount $5,048.42 is widow's dower interest. Judge Bell, of Hollidaysburg, presided during the session, which ended Thursday morning.

"BILLY" HEINLE shows a weakness in his candidacy for State Senator by sending his picture and biography to Republican papers in the district and paying for it as "an advertisement." It is a good thing for the papers, who need advertising but the Major will catch no Republican votes by it.

THE Free Silver heresy, it is said, is to be sprung upon the people this year in a new disguise. It was entirely omitted in the Democratic platform, but that does not mean that it has been entirely forgotten. Col. Bryan has resigned his place in the army to renew his campaign of education. Look out for the spook.

SPAIN'S TROUBLES.

They Are All Now Centred in the Philippines.

MEETING TO-DAY AT PARIS

The General Belief Is That the Peace Commission Will Soon Get Through Its Work and Make Report.

THE COMING OF GENERAL MERRITT

MADRID, October 4.—The reported intention of the United States government to retain the whole of the Philippine islands has created almost a state of stupefaction here, and it is semi-officially announced that the Spanish government has resolved to vigorously combat any such action, which, it is claimed, the terms of the peace protocol preclude.

General Rios, governor of the Visayas islands, reports to the government another defeat of the insurgents in the province of Antigua. He says the Spaniards captured the town of Bugason, killing 24 of the insurgents. The Spanish volunteers, he adds, also repulsed an insurgent attack on the town of Ibasan and killed 31 of the attacking force.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Yesterday's session of the Peace commission lasted until 4 p. m., at which hour the commission adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon, such interval being desirable and necessary to allow separate consideration by each commission of matters requiring such course before the joint commission. The interval will be thus filled with work by each committee, the ultimate results being so facilitated.

The secretary of the Spanish commission arrived last night, and the interval will be also employed by the secretaries jointly in maturing plans for the work and procedure. While the American commissioners were at luncheon yesterday Gen. Merritt called at their hotel, but he did not wait to see them. He will call again this morning to meet the members of the commission.

The Spanish and American commissioners will be received to-day by President Faure. The hour fixed for the reception of the Americans is 4:45 p. m. General Merritt will accompany the Americans to this function, which will be held at the Palais de Elyse.

The opinion is now held that the work of the commission may be finished within a month from the present time.

While it is the general impression that to-day's meeting was again devoted to preliminaries and that the adjournment to Friday was taken only to enable the secretaries to draw up a schedule of work, the representative of the Associated Press learns that the session was highly important and that the Americans have made a demand of such a character that the Spaniards found it necessary to ask for an adjournment to enable them to consult with the government at Madrid.

It is believed that the question concerns the Philippines and it is known that the Americans are highly pleased at having so far reached what they consider a very important phase of the negotiations and consider the two sessions thus far held as very satisfactory to America.

The fact that a member of the commission expressed the belief that the work would be completed within a month indicates a happy frame of mind.

In the Spanish camp great hopes are built on what they believe General Merritt will advise, namely, that the Philippines are incapable of self-government and that the whole situation does not warrant America in taking the responsibility for the entire Philippines. The Spaniards are quite ready to give whatever America asks in the way of coaling stations, but will resist more to the verge of a renewal of hostilities.

Rescued From Drowning.

CAPE MAY, N. J., October 3.—Miss Florence Keen, a daughter of Dr. W. W. Keen, and Charles K. Zeg, both of Philadelphia, were rescued from drowning yesterday. A boat manned by four other bathers started to their rescue but was upset and they had hard pulling to save themselves. The couple had unconsciously gone beyond their depth.

A former Governor of Alaska says it is lack of foresight that brought the griefs to many of the prospectors will still insist that it was lack of gold.

There is to be a great shower in November, 1899, but until that arrives the scintillations of next week will be unsurpassed.

Harvest Home Social.

A very delightful evening was spent at the home of Mr. Samuel Sheffer on Curtin street Saturday, Oct. 1st. Mrs. J. K. Kurtz and Mrs. Sheffer had the handsome hallway parlors decorated very artistically with cereals, fruit and "jack lanterns" and were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Herbert Sheffer, and others.

The program opened with a duet, suitable for the occasion, "What shall the Harvest be," rendered by Mrs. J. C. Meyer and Mrs. H. Sheffer, whose voices blended sweetly to the guitar. A recitation given by Mrs. J. L. Kurtz, was followed with a duet which carried us back to our childhood days, when Mother Goose's melodies were the sum and substance of our greatest joy, in the evening hour. And the hearty encore given Mrs. Kurtz and Mrs. Sheffer was obligingly responded to by their singing the old time favorite "Swawnee River."

Mrs Sheffer announced a friend from a distance who had been to New York, and had consented to give us her experience in going up in the elevator, in A. T. Stewarts store.

Howells inimitable piece was never more naturally rendered, than by the old lady, quaintly gotten up for the occasion. And she certainly "excelled herself" and added very much to the "hilarity" of the occasion; as Mrs. C. B. Hogue she responded to the encores and recited a sweet little poem of Moores. Refreshments were served, good nights said, and all left feeling they had enjoyed a delightful evening, and that the parlor socials of the W. C. T. U., were very enjoyable affairs and should not be missed.

W. H. LONG.

Candidate for Legislature on the "Honest Government Ticket."

W. H. LONG.

The many readers of the REPUBLICAN will recognize at a glance, the above picture to be that of Wm. H. Long, the enterprising proprietor of the extensive flouring mills at Howard, and the originator of Longs justly celebrated "Granulated Wheat."

Mr. Long owes his success in business, solely to his own strong personal efforts, and it is safe to say, that if he should be elected this fall, he will stand firm as the "rock of ages" for honesty in runing the affairs of state. He is a son of Conrad Long, a prominent grain and seed merchant of the early days.

Though our political views may differ, yet we have no hesitancy in saying that his party might have gone farther and fared worse, as his sterling qualities as man and citizen are above reproach.

The fight is a free one however, and to the "Victor belong the Spoils."

—Pheasants seem to be getting plenty in this neighborhood. This morning one flew in an open window at the Court House. Some of the Court house ring tried to capture it but it escaped breaking a pane of glass in its exit. Tuesday one flew into the parlor of District-Attorney Singer's house on East High street and was caught by Mrs. Singer.

A GREAT MEETING.

That in Harrisburg by the Christian Endeavorers.

THE BEAUTIFUL SOUVERNIR BADGE

First Session of the Convention Was Held Tuesday Afternoon and the Attendance Was Very Large.

GOVERNOR HASTINGS SPEAKS

HARRISBURG, October 5.—The twelfth annual convention of the State Christian Endeavor Union opened in this city on Tuesday, with the representatives in attendance from the 4,630 societies in Pennsylvania. The delegates were met at the railroad stations on their arrival by a reception committee and escorted to the convention hall. Here they were greeted by a committee and after registering were escorted to their places of entertainment. A special train brought 250 delegates at noon from Philadelphia, and during the afternoon large delegations arrived from Pittsburg and other points in Western Pennsylvania.

Banners bearing words of welcome in large letters inscribed in the colors of the convention are displayed at the entrances to the railroad stations and the whole city is one blazing mass of color, in which the Stars and Stripes predominate. The Chestnut street market hall, where the convention is being held, is very tastefully decorated with hundreds of banners and streamers.

The souvenir of the convention is a handsome guilt medal, on one side of which is an illuminated cross, encircled by the words "For Christ and the Church," with the date of the convention. The other side bears the monogram "C. E." on a raised keystone and has a suitable inscription. These medals are worn with dark red ribbon indicating the committee to which the wearer belongs.

The first service of the convention was the delegates' prayer meeting Tuesday afternoon, led by Rev. Charles A. Oliver, of York. The singing was directed by Mr. H. C. Lincoln, of Philadelphia. The executive committee met Tuesday afternoon. The course of the Keystone Endeavorer, the state organ, printed at Pittsburg, was indorsed, and the editor, Dr. Rhoads, continued as its head for another year.

Invitations were extended from Washington, Altoona and Philadelphia delegates to hold the next convention in their cities. The place of meeting will be selected at to-day's session of the committee.

A Christian Endeavor mass meeting was held last evening and was attended by 5,000 people. Rev. Dr. J. T. McCrory, of Pittsburg, presided, and a short devotional service was held, with Rev. Dr. I. E. Graff, of Harrisburg, as conductor. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Hastings and Rev. B. F. Dimmick, of Harrisburg, to which Rev. Rufus W. Miller, of Reading, responded. Gov. Hastings said it should be a source of satisfaction to know that the Keystone state is the banner state in number of societies, containing more than any other equal territory in the whole world. Continuing, he said:

"There need be no fear for the future of this country, whether its population be 70,000,000 or 700,000,000, if the individual citizen be an educated Christian man. The republics of ancient times failed because the individual citizen, capable of self-government, was always largely in the minority. We have shown the world that man, as God created and endowed him, can be fitted for self-government.

"I believe in the providence of the war with Spain. The enlightened public sentiment of America demanded better conditions, better treatment and better opportunity for the inhabitants of Cuba and Porto Rico. The necessities of strife and the accidents of war conditions made it possible for 8,000,000 human beings in the Philippine islands to invoke the protection and assistance of American institutions and of its flag. I believe in the providence of these conditions. I see an opportunity for the United States as a missionary, and I hope that the public sentiment of the country will so crystalize around those in authority in Washington that our flag and all it represents may float, not only over Hawaii, Cuba, Porto Rico and Manila, but above every island in the Philippine archipelago."

Dr. McCrory made a short address, after which the reports of the officers were read. The exercises to-day were opened with a sunrise prayer meeting at 6:30 o'clock. Noon evangelistic meetings were held in the various churches of Harrisburg and the surrounding towns.

RUNNING THE LINES.

A civil engineer corps of twenty-six men, in charge of A. V. Hoyt, went to Philipsburg Monday to run lines for a railroad 200 miles in length. While the engineers stated that they had a long line to locate, yet they were bound by secrecy not to divulge the name of the road. It is believed, however, by Philipsburg gentlemen that the contemplated road is the much talked of line which will form a more direct line from New York to Chicago, shortening the route by about sixty miles. The line will run from Philipsburg eastward via Bellefonte and Lamar, thence to Watsontown, where it will tap the main line to New York. Westward the road will run to Clearfield, where it will connect with the Clearfield and Mahoning branch of the Pittsburg and Rochester, forming a junction with the latter system at DuBois.

Another report is to the effect that the engineers will run lines for a narrow guage railroad from Karthaus to the timber lands of Graham & Porter, near Frenchville, a distance of about twenty miles. The corps will be divided into two crowds. One will camp at Deer Creek and the other at Rolling Stone. The road will follow the river nearly all the way.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Homesick Dog's Long Tramp.

The latest native of Elmira to return from the "sunny south" is a valuable pointer that came on foot all the way from South Carolina to his home in this city because he was homesick. Up to a short time ago the dog was the property of John H. Sullivan, of 719 Kenyon street, a law student.

About three months ago a family named Bunn, living near the Sullivans, who had been friends of the Sullivan family, signified their intention of moving to South Carolina to live. A large dog which was owned by the Sullivans spent much of its time between the two houses, sometimes staying for days at a time with one of the families and then leaving for the other house suddenly.

When the Bunns moved to South Carolina they asked the family to give up their interest in the dog, so that they could take him with them. This was agreed to and the last that was seen of the dog in Elmira was when the train pulled out of the station with the dog securely tied in the baggage car.

Monday last the Sullivan family heard a strange noise at the door. They opened it and were astonished to see the dog which they had given to the Bunn family several months ago, and which they supposed was miles away. The joy of the animal to find himself among his friends knew no bounds. He was so weak from hunger and exhaustion from the long journey that it was first thought he would not live. The animal's feet were so blistered and swollen that after he had been home an hour or two he could not walk. What route the animal took or how long he had been on the way home is not known.—Elmira Advertiser.

Resolutions of Respect.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of Grove Bros. Post. No. 262, G. A. R., of Howard, September 24th, 1898:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Omnipotent Commander of all armies to transfer from earthly services and fellowship Comrade Curtis DeHaas, member of Grove Bros. Post, No. 262, Grand Army of the Republic of Pa., late of Co. D, 49th Regt., P. V.; therefore,

Resolved, That we are hereby reminded that our transfer and discharge will come sure and soon.

Resolved, That we strive to be obedient, good and true, so that our discharge be honorable in the sight of the Great Ruler.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our sympathies to the bereaved family in this hour of their sorrow.

Resolved, That this preamble and resolutions be entered on our minutes and a copy of the same be sent to the family of our late Comrade,

FOR SALE BY LEADING DEALERS.

And Zola is in Prison.

PARIS, September, 29.—The house and furniture of M. Emile Zola are about to be sold to satisfy the judgment of 30,000 francs obtained against him by three handwriting experts, who recently won a libel suit, growing out of the Dreyfus case against the author. The experts have refused the offer of M. Octave Mirabeau to be responsible for the amount.

It is expected that the minister of justice, M. Serrien, will, if he has not already done so, issued directions that the rigors of the imprisonment of Dreyfus be modified according to custom, pending a final decision in his case, which is now before the court of cessation.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made up of two men. One of them ambitious, brainy and energetic; the other sick, peevish, listless and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and bilious headache, dizziness; sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

Loaded With Germs.

Physicians declare the pens and pencils used in the school rooms are loaded with deadly disease germs They say that parents should caution their children not to put the end of a pen or pencil in the mouth. A pen or pencil furnished by the school, is in time passed through the hands of every scholar in the room and by the time each has taka chew at the end, the germs, if they exist, will be thoroughly distributed.

A Cowardly Assault.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 29.—While Governor Smith, of the Pacific branch of the National Soldiers' Home, near this place, was coming to his headquarters yesterday, Albert G. Bradley, who has been an inmate of the home for five years came up behind him and shot at him five times, one ball taking effect under the right shoulder blade, one above the right hip and one through the right arm. The surgeon thinks the wounds are not fatal. At times Bradley has acted strangly, and it was supposed he was mentally unsound.

Modern Pills.

The day of powerful drastic pills is past and everyone who is troubled with torpidity of the liver, constipation, headache or indigestion may well be thankful that it is Every modern family medicine chest should contain a supply of Hood's Pills, the modern cathartic. While gentle and mild in action, they are thoroughly efficient and cure biliousness, indigestion, sick headache and other troubles due to a deranged condition of the stomach, liver or bowels.

In Favor of Keeping the Philippines

THOMAS F. BAYARD.

His Death at His Daughter's Residence Wednesday, Sept. 28.

HE HAD BEEN ILL ABOUT SIX WEEKS

Possessed of a Fine Constitution He Resisted the Inroads of Disease for a Surprising Period of Time.

BODY TO BE SENT TO DELAWARE

DEDHAM, Mass., September 29.—Thomas F. Bayard died at half-past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Karlstein, the summer residence of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, after the illness of six weeks. His death was without pain. His wife, his two daughters, Mrs. Warren and Miss Florence Bayard, and his son, Thomas F., jr., saw him draw his last breath, and his third daughter, the Countess Lauenhaupt was on her way to Dedham. The remains will be conveyed to Delaware, and the funeral services will be held Saturday in the old Swedish church at Wilmington.

Karlstein lies off the Needham road. Here, about the middle of August, came Mr. Bayard, to be the guest of his daughter and son-in-law. He was sick, but it was given out that his illness was merely due to declining years. He steadily grew weaker, however, and had spells of semi-consciousness and of delirium. A consultation of physicians was held August 26, and they agreed that Mr. Bayard was suffering from artoric-colorosis and a general breaking down, incident to age. He suffered no pain to any noticeable degree, and the chief tendency was to sleep.

During the first few weeks of his illness Mr. Bayard was able to sit up but as the days passed he became gradually weaker and three weeks ago he laid himself on his bed and never again rose from it. At times he would rally to some extent, but the relapse carried him always nearer to the end. His wonderful constitution resisted the ravages of disease for a surprising period. Much of the time he was in a semi-conscious condition, seldom recognizing any of the family, and at intervals having sinking spells, accompanied by choking. These left him always weaker. Yesterday it became evident that his death was a matter of only a few hours. Still he lingered, having a slight rally during the night and during the forenoon his condition showed little change. At 4 o'clock he began to sink rapidly and a half an hour later he gently passed away. To-day the body will be sent to Delaware, being due to arrive at Wilmington late Friday afternoon. He was born in Wilmington in 1826.

WILMINGTON, Del., September 29.—The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The body will be brought here on Friday afternoon and will remain in Old Swedes church over night, guarded by a friend of the family. At noon on Saturday the body will be exposed to public view in the church and at 2 o'clock the service will begin. In accordance with the wishes of Mr. Bayard, the regular Episcopal service will be used, conducted by Rev. Dr. Douglass, of Connecticut, who was a close friend of the deceased. He will be assisted by Rector M. B. Dunlap, of Old Swedes. The pall bearers have not yet been selected. The interment will be in Old Swedes cemetery. There are many expressions of sympathy for Mr. Bayard's family and flags are at half mast on all public buildings.

Offensive even to Myself.

F. A. Bolton, druggist, Cookshire Que says: "For 20 years I suffered from Catarrh. My breath was very offensive even to myself. I tried everything which promised me a cure. In almost all instances I had to proclaim them no good at all. I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. I got relief instantly after first application. It cured me and I am free from all the effects of it."—22.

Beer spells at 10 cents a glass in Germany because of the war tax.

When you have a sick horse you do not hitch him up to a sulky and take him to the race track for a little healthful spin. You doctor him. You cannot work or recreate a man into good health any more than you can a horse. Bicycling will make healthy men more healthy; it will make unhealthy men more unhealthy. When a man has been living in too big a hurry, when he has worked himself out, when he has got so that he does not sleep or eat, or rest, and the whole world looks gloomy to him, it is time for him to take medicine. Then, when he is braced up a bit, it is time enough for him to take to the bicycle.

When a man's nerves have an edge on them, so that the least little disappointment rasps on his temper like a file, when his stomach and liver and nerves are deranged, and he is continually gloomy and melancholy, he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man as hungry as a fisherman and sees to it that all the vital elements of the food are absorbed into the blood. It braces up the liver and puts it to work in the right way. It drives all bilious impurities from the system. It fills flesh, nerves, brain cells, sinews and bones with the life-giving elements of rich, red, pure blood. It makes a man healthy and then a bicycle will make him strong. Medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

"Through your skillful treatment I am once more a well man," writes J. N. Arnold, Esq., of Gandy, Logan Co., Neb. "I suffered for years with constipation and torpidity of the liver, irritation of the prostate and inflammation of the bladder. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' and am permanently cured. You have been the means of saving my life."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

Van Wyck for Governor.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The Democratic convention of New York state at its convention Thursday named this ticket:

For governor, Augustus Van Wyck, of Kings; lieutenant governor, Elliot Danforth, of Chenango; secretary of state, George W. Batten, of Niagara, controller, Edward S. Atwater, of Duchess; state treasurer, E. P. Morris, of Wayne; attorney general, Thomas F. Conway, of Clinton; state engineer and surveyor, Martin Schenck, Rensselaer.

Contrary to all expectations the convention was very harmonious, the only contest being for the nomination of governor and only one ballot being taken on that.

Delegate Pierce, of Monroe, attempted to speak on the silver question, but was ruled out, but a mention of the name of William Jennings Bryan, by Thomas Carmody, produced the greatest demonstration witnessed in the convention. Delegates stood on chairs waving hats, while from the galleries men waved hats and even coats, and one man grabbed a Cuban flag from the decorations and waved it amidst them.

The voting for governor was completed at 2:36 and the result, as announced, was Van Wyck, 350; Stanchfield, 38; McGuire 21; Titus, 41; and on motion the nomination was made unanimous.

The nominations for the remainder of the ticket were made by acclamation.

Bright's Disease Cured.

Mrs. Laura A. Kempton's (of West Rutland, Vt.) daughter was stricken with Bright's Disease. Her ankles, feet and eyes were terribly swollen. Four physicians attended her, but her life was despaired of. A mother's love surmounts all difficulties, and she determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y. 'How happy I am," Mrs. Kempton, writes, that I determined upon that course for one by one the well known symptoms of the disease left her. Words cannot express my gratitude and I cannot to earnestly recommend this great medicine. Her recovery was entirely due to Favorite Remedy, which was the only medicine taken after her case was abandoned by the physicians." Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy can be had at any drug store. It has never yet failed to cure where the disease is within the range of medicine.

A Hard Battle for Life.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The brigantine Sunlight, now under the British flag, Captain Davidson, found from St. Kitts, in the British West Indies, to New York, was fallen in with late Tuesday night by the Philadelphia tug Protector, Captain Minnicci, in the locality of Fenwick islands, practically at the mercy of the elements, with five of her crew and one passenger down with the fever and with only three men able to be about to guide the ship. The Sunlight was taken in tow by the Protector which reached the Delaware breakwater at 12:20 a. m., and medical aid was at once procured One of the seamen, James Edwards, died. Physicians pronounce the disease to be logwood fever, according to latest dispatches received at the maritime exchange from Lewes, Del.

TROUBLE IN PANA.

Striking Miners Now Committing Overt Acts.

GOVERNOR TANNER MOVES

Forwards Militia as Well as Rifles but Directs that Order is to be Maintained Between the Parties.

OPPOSED TO IMPORTING LABOR

AURORA, Ill., Oct. 1.—Company G, of Colonel Hamilton's new regiment, Illinois National Guard, seventy-five strong, Captain L. M. Harris, commanding, have left for Springfield, in response to orders. They are intended for service in strike troubles at Pana.

PANA, Ills., Oct. 1.—Thursday night was a terrorizing one for the people of Pana. Two-thirds of the residences were unoccupied. Each of the houses occupied contained groups of families. In some cases all the residents of an entire block spent the dark hours in one home, armed, terrorized and awaiting attacks expected to be made on their homes by the negroes imported from Alabama.

All night the fighting union miners reinforced by brother miners from other towns, armed with shotguns and rifles paraded the streets, and in some cases lay in ambush and on housetops and in alleys awaiting the coming of the blacks from Springside and Penwell stockades, who had announced an intention to march into the city and drive out the whites. But the deputy sheriffs were successful in keeping the negroes under control and within the stockades. Many shots were fired in the vicinity of the mines throughout the night, but with what results could not be ascertained. Yesterday, in response to Sheriff Coburn's urgent appeal, battery B, of Galesburg, and two companies of Hamilton's Sons of Veterans were on the way to Pana. They are, by the governor's instructions, to protect lives of citizens and their property, but under no consideration to assist the mine owners in operating the mines with imported labor. Many visiting miners, heavily armed, arrived here today, and later, with 200 local miners, left the city for Shelby county, three miles east, to intercept a Baltimore and Ohio train said to be conveying sixty negro miners to Pana to take union men's places. The purpose is to stop the train, and, at the point of guns, march them east. Sheriff Coburn will dispatch a posse to the county to prevent a hold up of the train within Christian county. The miners are anxious to compel the negroes to turn back before the soldiers arrive. On the arrival of troops in Pana it is intended to have all citizens, white or black, disarmed by the militia. Sheriff Coburn, in wiring for troops Thursday evening, reported one black killed in Wednesday's riot and sever l wounded.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct., 1.—In answer to queries regarding a report that he had refused to send 300 rifles to the sheriff at Pana, Governor Tanner yesterday said: "I never refused. On the contrary, when the sheriff last Saturday made a requisition for 200 rifles I forwarded by rush order the 200 rifles and 2,000 rounds of ammunition, and had all on the train within an hour from the time of the requisition, and the sheriff received them that evening by Baltimore and Ohio southwest train."

Continuing the governor said: "Yesterday I received an urgent telegram from the sheriff asking for troops and saying he had done everything to protect life and property but the conditions had reached a point where he was unable to cope with the difficulty longer and that serious riot was imminent unless he received state aid by or before Friday evening. After several telephone conversations with him, I became so impressed with the importance and needs of the situation that I ordered the Galesburg battery and two companies of the Sons of Veterans' regiment to report at Pana for riot duty by the first train. I directed Capt. Craig, in command, to arrest and disarm all persons carrying arms and hold such arms until further orders; to protect citizens and their property and to maintain order, but not to allow any portion of his command to aid mine owners in operating their mines with imported labor.

and wife should know about the preparation that for half a century has been helping expectant mothers bring little ones into the world without danger and the hundred and one discomforts and distractions incident to child-birth. It is applied externally, which is the only way to get relief. Medicines taken internally will not help and may result in harm.

BROWN TOBACCO COMPANY SELLS OUT.

Ever since tobacco leaves were first pressed together and sold as "plug" tobacco for chewing, there has been loss when the tobacco manufactured in this form became old as it hardened and was unfit for the purpose for which it was intended.

A very important discovery and improvement was made a short time ago by the Brown Tobacco company of St. Louis; placed on the marke by them as "Standard Navy Plug" tobacco, which, on account of its distinct character and quality, gained quickly a widespread popularity and large sale, its peculiarity being that it never hardens or loses its pliability.

So important in fact, is this new process in manufacturing tobacco that the American Tobacco Company of New York, have been negotiating with the concern that owned it, and last week the final papers were signed, and the American Tobacco Company bought outright the entire plant, property and business of the Brown Tobacco Company. This purchase enables the American Tobacco Company to add to their many well known brands of chewing tobacco the now famous brand of "Standard Navy Plug," and gives them practically the control of the plug tobacco business in this country.—St. Louis Republic.

ROARING FLAMES.

MANY TOWNS ARE IN DANGER

The Forest Fire Belt Sends in Bad News—One Mining Settlement Reported As Having been Destroyed.

A FATAL FIRE IN ST. LOUIS

DENVER, Col., September 29.—A prairie fire, probably started by a spark from a locomotive, has burned over thousands of acres of grazing lands between Kiowa and Bijou creeks in Morgan county and destroyed thousands of tons of hay. Ranchman W. C. Miller and his wife and child had a narrow escape from being burned to death. The woman and the child were badly burned. Had it not been for the prompt work of the railroad men and others at Corona, the town would have been entirely destroyed. Going toward the approaching fire for miles back fires were started, and in this manner the danger averted. Thousands of head of cattle are threatened with destruction by the forest fires.

In Eagle county, where the flames seem to be spreading more rapidly than in other sections of the state, ranch property has been burned and the farmers with their stock have been trying to get out of the path of the fires for a week past. One large bunch of about 500 head of cattle is now entirely surrounded by fire and there is no chance for their escape. The report came from Deputy Game Warden Laughter, who directed his letter two days ago. It is probable that the cattle have been destroyed by this time.

Dispatches from various points in the forest fire belt indicate the fires are spreading and unless something is done to check their further progress, the loss will be almost beyond computation. As it is now some mining camps are threatened with destruction and many ranches are doomed.

At Red Cliff the fires are within ten miles of the town, and citizens are organizing to fight their advance. A dispatch states that it is feared that the little mining settlement at Holy Cross, near Red Cliff has been destroyed. Communication is cut off, the mail carrier being unable get through.

ST. LOUIS, September 29.—Two women were fatally injured and fifteen others more or less hurt in a fire caused by an explosion at 410 North Fourth street, yesterday. The building was four stories in height, and occupied by C. & W. McClain, sporting goods. Pauline Bruger, who jumped from an upper window, died last night, and Florence Higby, who also made the leap, was not expected to live till morning. The damage to building and stock is about $89,000.

READING, Pa., Sept. 29.—At 9:30 Tuesday night fire was discovered in the large building at Shillington, occupied by John Warren's planing mill and B. H. Hemming's flour and feed mill. In an hour the entire building was consumed. Fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. Loss, $10,000.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 29.—A Claremont, Minn., special to the Journal says that village was wiped out by fire Tuesday night, twenty two buildings being destroyed.

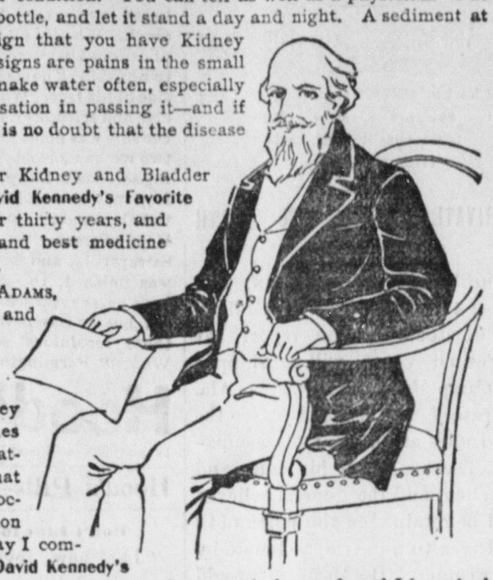
How to Prolong Life

No man or woman can hope to live long if the Kidneys, Bladder, or Urinary Organs are diseased. Disorders of that kind should never be neglected. Don't delay in finding out your condition. You can tell as well as a physician. Put some urine in a glass or bottle, and let it stand a day and night. A sediment at the bottom is a sure sign that you have Kidney disease. Other certain signs are pains in the small of the back—a desire to make water often, especially at night—a scalding sensation in passing it—and if urine stains linen there is no doubt that the disease is present.



There is a cure for Kidney and Bladder Diseases. It is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has been for thirty years, and is today, the greatest and best medicine known for these troubles.

"Three years ago I was taken with Kidney disease very badly; at times I was completely prostrated; in fact, was so bad that a day was set for the doctors to perform an operation upon me. Upon that day I commenced the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it was not long before I was entirely cured, and I have had no return of the trouble since. My weight has increased, and I never was so well as I am now. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life."

Favorite Remedy acts directly upon the Kidneys, Liver and Blood. In cases of Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Ulcers, Old Sores, Blood Poisoning, Bright's Disease and Female Troubles it has made cures after all other treatments failed. It is sold for $1.00 a bottle at drug stores. A teaspoonful is a dose.

Sample Bottle Free! Send your full postoffice address to the DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, Rondout, N. Y., and mention this paper, and a sample bottle of Favorite Remedy will be sent free. Every sufferer can depend upon the genuineness of this offer, and should send at once.

SPAIN HAS VERY LITTLE LEFT

The Residents Must Be Given a Libera Government—Church and State Will Be Separated Completely.

NO ISLANDS ARE TO BE SOLD

PARIS, September 30:—The United States peace commission held another session Thursday morning, after which, accompanied by the United States ambassador, General Horace Porter, they drove to the foreign office, where the commissioners met and breakfasted with the Spanish commissioners. In addition to the commissioners and ambassadors, the minister of foreign affairs, Mr. Dellcasse, had invited the three head officials of the French foreign office, the first secretaries of embassies and General Hegron, secretary of the Elysee palace.

The French newspapers continue to comment upon the difficulties which the two commissions will have to face, by reason of their divergent instruction, beyond which, it is said they cannot go. Gil Blas says:

"The Spanish government has given its commissioners very precise instructions. They are to do their utmost to have it admitted that there can be no question of disputing the rights of Spanish sovereignty over Manila, the island of Luzon and the rest of the archipelago, outside of the naval stations which Spain will cede at the Marianne islands.

"On the other side, the American commission before leaving President McKinley received from him very precise instructions, from which the commissioners cannot depart. The following is the text of their instructions:

"First—Spain cedes absolute sovereignty over the whole island of Luzon.

"Second—The other islands of the archipelago will be replaced under the domination of Spain on condition that a liberal government is accorded to the inhabitants.

"Third—Complete separation of church and state in the Philippines.

"Fourth—Spain cannot cede any other islands in the group to any foreign power without America's consent.

"Fifth—The United States shall enjoy for all time the same commercial privileges as the most favored nations, not excepting Spain herself."

The Gil Blas concludes with remarking:

"It is therefore to be feared that for unhappy Spain the negotiations, which open on the 1st of October, will give no satisfaction.

Order For Occupying Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The following order for the occupation of Cuba was issued Thursday:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29.

By directions of the secretary of war, the Fourth United States volunteer infantry, detached from the Seventh army corps, will be placed in readiness for immediate service in Cuba, pursuant to general order No 154, current series, from this office, and proceed fully armed and equipped, to take station at Manzanillo, the commandant reporting his arrival by telegraph to Major Gen. James F. Wade, United States volunteers, Havana, who will give instructions as to its duty and disposition.

The quartermaster's department will furnish the necessary transportation and the subsistence department will provide the necessary suitable rations and the surgeon general make ample provisions for necessary medical attendance and supplies for the troops enroute and after arrival.

By command of Major General Miles.

Snakes in India.

Snakes are one of the scourges of India. Thousands of people die yearly from their bite. In the last twenty-two years the number has reached the enormous total of 433,289. Snakes appear to be a more deadly enemy to man than wild animals. In the same period wild animals have only killed 64,284 perons. On an average in India 20,000 people perish yearly by snakes and wild animals. The number of deaths in recent years has shown a marked increase. In 1875 the number was 21,266, in 1896 it had risen to 24,335. Bengal is the most dangerous province to live in, for the Bengalese snakes are responsible for half the deaths from snakebite. The loss of cattle has also been very great. Since 1875 about a million and a half animals have been destroyed. Wild animals are responsible for nine tenthe of the cattle killed. In 1896 for instance, 7,143 animals died from snake bite, but 81,397 were killed by wild beasts.

Girls Living in Country Towns.

In the October Ladies' Home Journal Edward Bok devotes much of his editorial page to showing country girls and women the way to make their lives mean more—how they can partake more fully of the true enjoyments of life. He has prescribed a method of country living which can readily and profitably be pursued, and which will go far toward the emancipation of the country woman from much of the drudgery, and lighten the isolation of farm life. Warrior Turned to Stone.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Sept. 30.—An interesting discovery was made today in Clearfield county, which is already attracting widespread attention. It is the perfect body of a large Indian, solidified through petrification.

The discovery was made by the workmen who are building a railroad from Clearfield Bridge to Belsena. As the men were making a cut through a rocky hill they unearthed the petrified body of the Indian at a depth of seven feet from the surface. The body is a perfect specimen in every respect, the features being clean cut and lifelike, except for color, and the entire specimen resembling a statue chiseled by a master hand. The arms of the Indian are folded. Ten men were required to remove the petrified body from its resting place.

Here's a Lie Nailed.

The campaign liar who spread broadcast the story that the Republican organization is seeking to defeat Congressman Charles W. Stone for re-election has been caught in his lie.

Upon the same platform on Wednesday appeared Congressman Stone, Senator Penrose and Colonel W. A. Stone, the candidate for governor. It was at Warren, the home of the congressman, and strong speeches were made in his behalf.

The story was spread to cover the trail of the Wanamaker-Democratic-Populistic alliance, which seeks to defeat W. A. Stone and to send an anti administration member to the United States Senate.

TO SEEK A LOAN.

Garcia Will Come to the United States to Secure Funds.

TO PAY OFF REBEL SOLDIERS

For Certain Pledges the General is Willing to Lend His Efforts to the Annexation Movement.

GEN. WOODS' REPORT TO LAWTON

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 30.—I learn on good authority that General Calixto Garcia will soon go to the United States to endeavor to negotiate a loan. This loan will be secured by Cuban territory and will be devoted to the payment of the revolutionary troops. It will not be under the guarantee of the United States, but the American Government will make no objection, charging its repayments to Cuban securities.

From the same source I am informed that there is now an entire reapproachment between General Garcia and the local American administration.

For certain considerations General Garcia is to use his influence to check the extreme party of Cubans who are becoming more violent every day. While openly declaring himself a strong advocate of independence, the General has really privately declared his willingness to forward the movement for annexation, provided certain pledges are made to him. He states that he can carry with him a majority of the army.

General Conazo is apparently slipping away from Garcia's influences. He is inclined to ally himself with the extremists.

The Minnewaska, which was to have sailed Wednesday with forty convalescents from all regiments, was held up after inspection by order of General Wood. Inspectors declared her unfitted to go to sea with patients aboard, owing to the lack of proper medical and other supplies.

General Wood reported this to General Lawton, who immediately called on the medical department for an explanation, detaining the ship until she is properly fitted out.

General Wood's report says that had the ship gone to sea there would undoubtedly have been great loss of life. He expresses the opinion that there are not sufficient medical supplies in the towns to properly equip any ship going to sea with ill men.

Postmaster Kempner has been instructed by the Washington authorities to make a tour of the southern coast to inspect postoffices, make notes of their equipments, requirements, and take photographs and report on their conditions, with a view of establishing an efficient postal service around the island.

General Wood is drawing up the details of his scheme for a water and sewerage system for the town. He will go to Washington in November to confer with the authorities in relation to this and other matters in the province.

—The largest and heaviest locomotive in the world was turned out Wednesday from the Pittsburg locomotive works. It was 95 of the Union railroad. The weight of the engine, exclusive of the tender, is 220,000 pounds. The cylinders are 23 by 32. The drivers are eight in number and 24 inches in diameter.

ALFRED SPEER,

THE ORIGINAL

Port Grape Wine Producer in America.

The first native wine sold and used in San Francisco and Sacramento was from Speer's Passaic, N. J., vineyards, was shipped around Cape Horn before there was any railroad to California, and are now being used by physicians and first families there as the richest and best wine to be had

The juice of the Portugal Port Wine grape grown in N. J. is thick and rich same as the juice of pears and other fruits grown here. From California pears you can squeeze water as from a sponge; so with all fruits grown in California; while those grown in New Jersey are solid in substance—less juice but thick and richer. The New Jersey apples, for instance, make a cider that was always popular the world over. If you want a wine for sickness or for entertainments don't take cheap, watery wines but choose a first class old, full bodied, high grade wine from Speer's Passaic vineyards. Sold by Druggists.

Holding Their Wheat.

A good many farmers will hold their wheat, being impressed with the belief that the markets will do better later on. Farmers generally are in much better condition financially than they have been for several years, and are not forced to sell.

A CONTEST TO DEFEAT THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

In closing an address to the people of Pennsylvania, Chairman Elkin, gives utterance to the following eloquent and patriotic sentiment which every true Republican should heed and act upon at the coming election:

"It might as well be understood now that this is a contest to defeat Republican supremacy in Pennsylvania. The organization is prepared to defend the party from all these reckless and malicious attacks. It is our purpose to labor for the success of the whole Republican ticket, county as well as state. It is our desire to uphold the administration of President McKinley, and we feel the necessity of returning the greatest possible number of Republican congressmen for this state. It is also important that a Republican United States senator should be returned from Pennsylvania. With a new governmental policy growing out of the issues of the war we should see to it that Pennsylvania is represented by straightout Republicans in both houses of congress.

"In conclusion I desire to say that I shall not enter into any competition with Mr. Wanamaker in defaming the state of which I am proud to be a citizen, besmirching the good name of its people in the eyes of the country. I prefer rather to exalt and glorify it within all proper bounds of language. God has blessed its hills and valleys with matchless resources, above and under ground, far beyond Golconda and the Klondike, and the genius and industry of its people have developed it into an imperial domain. I prefer to look at it with eyes unjaundiced by any disappointed ambition, and to think of it as it is, the home of education and integrity, morality and religion, rather than to proclaim it as a breeding ground of iniquity, whose people choose habitual criminals as their representatives to enact their laws and administer their public affairs."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 3rd 1898.

President McKinley has been given much satisfactory information on the outlook for republican success in the Congressional campaign, by his callers during the last two or three days. Among those who gave this information were Senators Hanna, of Ohio; Mason, of Ills., and Pritchard, of N. C.; Ex-Governor Merriam, of Minn.; Representatives Cannon, of Ill., and Hepburn, of Iowa, and Mr. A. E. Holton, Chairman of the Republican State committee, of N. C. The last named told the President that the republicans would gain two Congressmen in N. C. The general tenor of all the information given the President is that the republicans have nothing to fear except the existing over confidence, which makes it difficult to convince republican voters that their votes will be needed this year.

Since the war investigation commission began invitiug editors of yellow journals to furnish the names of witnesses to prove sensational charges made by them in their papers, there has been a marked falling off in the number of such publications, bnt up to this time none of the yellow editors have attempted to furnish the evidence asked for. The commission has its work pretty well mapped out, now, and this week will begin the taking of testimony. The President and Secretary Alger are both aiding the commission in every way possible.

It is customary whenever a new Secretary of State assumes office, for him to hold a reception to the members of the diplomatic corps, for the purpose of formal introduction and the establishment of official relations. Secretary Ray, who was sworn in last week, held a reception today in the Diplomatic Room in the State Department, that was attended by representatives of every country with which we have diplomatic relations. Many of the older diplomats have long been personal friends of Secretary Ray, for whom they predict a brilliant career as Secretary of State.

The war department gave Colonel Bryan and Gov. Holcomb more than they expected when it requested the latter to decide whether the regiment of Nebraska Volunteers, now at Manila, or that commanded by Col. Bryan, shall be mustered out of the service. It was a clear case of beating these two very cute politicians at their game. They expected the war department to name the regiment to be mustered out, and were prepared to charge injustice no matter which was chosen. Now, they are bound to keep their mouths closed, and Col. Bryan himself must take the responsibility of deciding whether his regiment remains in service or is mustered out, as it is known that he will dictate Gov. Holcomb's decision.

From almost every foreign country, comes an increased demand for American goods—we are actually selling silks in France. The following report from the U. S. Consul at Athens, Greece, which has just reached the department of State, speaks for its self: "There cannot be the least doubt of the necessity of a direct line of steamships between the U. S. and Mediterranean ports. There is a wide field and large profits for a well managed line, and it should be an American one flying the stars and stripes, if possible. Many of the stores of Athens—all those that keep the imported articles, exhibit American goods for sale as English goods, they having been imported from England. Nearly every mail brings letters of inquiry to this consulate from merchants and manufacturers of the U. S., all anxious to find a market here for their products; for it is becomiug generally known that Greece imports nearly all kinds of goods and machinery. The English German and French transportation companies that call here are doing a very good business, but the Greek importers want a chance to get imports directly from America, and thus save the profits of the middlemen."

There is much gossip in political circles concerning the comparative ease with which Boss Croker downed Ex-Senator Hill, at the New York Democratic convention, and compelled Hill to accept Judge Van Wyck as the party candidate for Governor after he had declared positively that he would not support any man from New York City or Brooklyn for the nomination. It is said that there was treachery among those whom Hill had counted upon to stand by him No matter how he accomplished his purpose, there is no doubt that Croker named the whole state ticket and that he is now the boss of the whole democratic state outfit as well as of Tammany. Either is there any doubt that Croker's triumph has added to the certainty of Col. Roosevelt's election to the Governorship.

Senator Hanna, who is now in Washington, says that he doesn't know what the instructions given to the American Peace Commissioners, now at Paris, were, but that he regards American possession of the entire Philippine group as an inevitable result of the meeting of the Peace Commission, and expects that we will have to maintain about the same sort of government over them as will be maintained in Cuba, until Congress decides what shall be done with them. He says he bases his opinion upon the idea that he finds prevalent everywhere that we cannot allow Spanish rule to continue on any of the islands, whether we desire to keep them ourselves or not.

The Coffee Heart.

The coffee heart is the latest to be added to the classifications of the functional derangement of that organ. The coffee heart is due to an over indulgence in that beverage, just as the tobacco heart is credited to the use of tobacco, or the bicycle heart to extravagance in wheeling. A medical director in a life insurance company avers that over indulgence in the use of coffee shortens the beat of the heart, and that the excessive use of it hereafter will be regarded as risks in life insurance.

EARNED NOT BOUGHT.

Staying Power Counts in a Long and Stern Race.

Bellefonte people need not be told how hard it is to earn a good reputation, and how easy it is to lose one. After such a loss it is well nigh impossible to recover the ground and the majority who have slipped by the wayside have been forced to stay there. As with a man's reputation so it is with medical preparations. Some achieve a reputation that stays with them. It is founded on intrinsic merit and not sustained by elaborate advertising. It faces the public backed up by honesty and works its way quietly but thoroughly. Bellefonte people want no better proof of the reputation earned by Doan's Kidney Pills than the following experience from a citizen:

A prominent hotel man says: "I have not changed my mind regarding Doan's Kidney Pills, which did me so much good over two years ago. What they did for me was done permanently. At the time they relieved me of a depressing backache and lameness across my kidneys, and I recommend them as ardently now as I did then. I have not had the pains in my back since. Doan's Kidney Pills are all right.

National Guard Muddle.

Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart states that he will give out at Harrisburg during this week an interview in regard to the dual National Guard muddle, and in that manner unofficially announce the probable solution of the problem and the probable course of action to be pursued by the State authorities.

General Stewart confirmed the opinion expressed in certain quarters that the Seventh, Eleventh, Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first twelve company regiments of infantry, the Second City Troop, Second Governor's Troop and Second Sheridan Troop and Light Batteries D and T are as much the Legal National Guard of the State as any military commands the Commonwealth ever supported, and that the prefixed word "provisional," by which the new commands have been known since their formation in July, conveyed a false impression.

The officers and men of the 21st Regiment will await General Stewart's statement with deep interest, as rank and file are a unit in wanting to keep up their organization. The officers say they have spent energy, money and time, that the men have drilled nobly and that if all their work is to be wiped out now, it will be a slap in the face of their patriotism.

The general feeling in all the city regiments is that the new and the old guards will be amalgamated and rebuilt on a new basis, and in accordance with the new drill regulations as used by the regular army, but some are still of the opinion that the National Guard has received a blow, on account of the war, from which it will not recover in ten years, and officers in close touch with the military situation are wondering where the men are coming from to fill the regiments.

The great military parade during the Peace Jubilee will be a red-white-and blue-letter day for the newly-formed regiments. General Stewart said Saturday that he hoped to have all six infantry regiments, as well as the light batteries and the troops, armed, uniformed and equipped in time to take part in the celebration. At that time the new organizations will make their initial bow to the public and give an illustration of the work they have been doing in the matter of drill during the Summer months.

Beech Creek Branching off.

Agents of the proposed Beech creek railroad extension have been in the vicinity of Jeanette for the past two weeks, obtaining options on farm properties and rights of way through the territory it is intended to traverse. The representatives of the railroad are working in a very quiet but effective manner, and have obtained options on several farms in that neighborhood. The route of the new line was surveyed several years ago. Lately agents made their appearance and obtained several options. The new road will enter Jeanette from the north and will cross the Pennsylvania railroad there. It will open up valuable coal and timber lands in Indiana and Westmoreland counties. It will connect with the Baltimore and Ohio at or near Suterville, in the southern part of the county.

An insurance company having its headquarters in New York has applied to the Maine State authorities for information as to the number of persons killed or injured while hunting in the woods last year, with the view of issuing a new form of life and accident policy especially for sportsmen. There were thirteen fatal shooting accidents in the Maine woods in 1897.

There will be more war in Cuba when Col. Waring begins to put his ideas of municipal cleanliness into practice.

FROM CAMP MEADE.

General Graham and the Movement to Alabama.

THEY ALL ARE READY FOR CUBA

A West Virginia Regiment Sends to Camp Sick Soldiers After the March to Gettysburg—Rheumatism the Worry.

A PRIVATE BLEEDS TO DEATH

CAMP MEADE, MIDDLETOWN, Pa., October 4.—Major General Graham takes no stock in the report that the Second corps will be shipped from Camp Meade to Anniston, Ala. preparatory to being sent to the West Indies as an army of occupation. The health of his command is excellent and the general believes it will be retained in the north until it is driven to a warmer climate by cold weather. He thinks it would be folly to take the troops away from a healthy location and put them in an unhealthy place in the south and then ship them from there to Cuba, which is even more unhealthy. If the war department officials take his advice the corps will be shipped to Cuba from Camp Meade.

He proposes to have a series of reviews before the corps leaves here. He will review the troops himself first to ascertain and correct any defects and will follow this review with brigade reviews and general military functions. He says he will be very happy to parade the corps at the peace jubilee at Philadelphia if the war department gives him permission. The local committee will have to provide transportation, and the general estimates that it will take ten trains of forty cars each to transport the corps.

The Second West Virginia has been ordered to vacate its present grounds, which will be used as a second parade ground, the other parade ground being two miles distant from corps headquarters. The second review ground is for sudden reviews in behalf of visiting dignitaries. Chaplain Kelly returned from Gettysburg to-day with thirty men of the West Virginia regiment who were taken to the Second division hospital.

Four of the soldiers are suffering from typhoid fever and others from rheumatism. Yesterday morning the West Virginians started on a march to York, where the regiment will be a big feature at the county fair. They will resume the march to Camp Meade on Friday, reaching the camp about Monday.

Yesterday afternoon a train under the auspices of the Red Cross society took forty-eight sick soldiers to Philadelphia hospitals. Hereafter a train must be furnished for all soldiers taken away to city hospitals. Colonel Girard has made this order by reason of the changing weather conditions, and the fact that it is not safe to move them on cots placed in express and baggage cars. He thinks the Philadelphia hospitals can easily accommodate all the overflow of patients hereafter, owing to the rapid decrease of sickness. Officers have been stationed at Philadelphia with furloughs, transportation and communication for the return of convalescents to their homes. Colonel Girard thinks the city hospitals and the good nursing have saved many lives.

Private Joseph Cover, company A, Tenth Ohio, bled to death at the Raymond & Campbell's works, Middletown. Cover called at the works to sharpen his pocket knife on a felt wheel. He was refused and after the foreman turned his back Cover placed the knife on the wheel. The knife was scarcely on the wheel until it caught, flew off and struck the soldier in the right leg, between the knee and the thigh, severing an artery. A physician was summoned, but arrived too late as the soldier died within five minutes after the accident occurrad.

Baby's Smooth Fair Skin

Is Due to Hood's Sarsaparilla—It Cured Him of Dreadful Scrofulous Sores—Now in Good Health.

"At the age of two months, my baby began to have sores break out on his right cheek. We used all the local external applications that we could think or hear of, to no avail. The sores spread all over one side of his face. We consulted a physician and tried his medicine, and in a week the sore was gone. But to my surprise in two weeks more another scrofulous looking sore made its appearance on his arm. It grew worse and worse, and when he was three months old, I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. I also took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before the first bottle was finished, the sores were well and have never returned. He is now four years old, but he has never had any more of those scrofulous sores." MRS. S. S. WROTEN, Farmington, Delaware.

Don't Like too Much Mail,

"The new revision of the star routes is doing a great deal of good in the south," remarked Chief Clerk Day, of the railroad mail service, "and enabling lots of country folks to get their letters and papers daily where they formerly received them only once or twice a week. Strange to say, however, the change is not always hailed with joy. Over in Gremer county, Georgia, a star route agent juggled things around so as to get a six-day mail into a weekly town, and was chuckling over the idea that he had been a benefactor to the whole district, when the postmaster hunted him up with a face as long as a backwoods sermon. "I wish you all would fix it to change that thar mail back agin like it was," said the old fellow, earnestly. 'What!' exclaimed the agent, in amazement. 'Well it's like this,' said the postmaster. 'Our folks has been used to comin' fer their letters every Saturday an' was well suited. Now this new scheme has been started and it breaks 'em all up. They feel kinder uneasy like onless they come in every day, and they just can't do no work. The crops is getting plumb neglected. We all want you to switch her back agin as quick as you kin'. The agent went away deeply disgusted, and sent a special report, in which he intimated that an annual mail would about meet the demands of the country. At last reports, though, it was standing at the six-day schedule."

Loses Much of Its Force.

For a few years at least manufacturers, importers and exporters need have no fear of a derangement of business due to Tariff agitation. The Tariff cannot be touched so long as Mr. McKinley remains in the White House, which brings us up to March 4, 1901, and, even if the Republican party should be defeated in the next Presidential election, the Republicans might still be able to retain control of the Senate, and effectually block an attempted revision of the Tariff. But the Tariff is not the live issue it once was. Figures are more potent than theories. With an enormous balance of trade, with a demand for American products in all parts of the world, with imports falling off, and the American market supplied by American manufacturers as it never was before, the argument against Protection loses much of its force.

The Republican party has always been a party of "good times" and profited by fortunate trade conditions. So long as the farmer receives high prices for his wheat and other cereals, and the manufacturer finds a ready market for his wares at a fair profit, there is little disposition shown by the country to exchange Protection for Free-Trade There is the danger to be feared from a "boom" and overproduction and reckless speculation. If business conducted on conservative principles there need be no fear of the future.—Maurice Low, in the "National Review."

FILIPINOS PERSISTENT.

Demand a Guarantee Before Release of Prisoners.

AGUINALDO REFUSES MONEY

INSURGENT CHIEF ASKS INDEPENDENCE

Manila, Oct. 3.—The national assembly at Malolos voted Aguinaldo a civil list of $75,000, but Aguinaldo declined to receive anything until the army should have been paid. An attempt was made by Palerno, speaker of the house, to have inserted a clause granting him an allowance because of his office, but the proposal was rejected. The assembly is now engaged in discussing the constitution.

The Spanish community is telegraphing to Madrid in an endeavor to secure the release of prisoners. Personal investigations emphasize the determination of the insurgents to obtain a specific guarantee of favorable terms before releasing the prisoners now in their hands, and it is certain that they will never cheaply relinquish their dearly bought conquest. Everywhere is seen evidences of appaling struggles. Popular opinion favors autonomy, which it is generally expected will be established. The people rather distrust the Americans, who, beginning to realize this fact, sent the cruiser Raleigh to the northwestern ports for the purpose of showing the American flag and making friends with the natives. The cruiser's officers endeavored to arrange an interchange of hospitalities, but the natives at first were unwilling to visit the ship unless hostages were landed. Finally, however, friendly feeling was established and the natives were agreeably surprised at the American attitude. A sanitary board with an American at its head, has been established here. A corps of physicians are superintending sanitary work in the city and vicinity.

In his speech at Malolos on Thursday Aguinaldo said: "Our friends, the Americans, came for the purpose of demonstrating the generosity and grandeur of their government, and to assist in releasing the people from slavery without annexing the islands thus setting a good example. We now understand and appreciate the famous Monroe doctrine of 'America for Americans,' and justice demands that they add 'the Philippines for the Filipinos.'"

The insurgent officials express disappointment at the non-attendance of Americans at the festival at Malolos. The provincial governor has declined to allow an American officer to inspect the Dagupan prisons and secure their plans without Aguinaldo's sanction. Aguinaldo instructed his troops at the railroad stations beyond Malolos not to allow any Americans to pass.

Among those confined to the hospitals are William McGregor, typhoid fever, and David Forsythe, dysentery, both of the Tenth Pennsylvania.

Marseilles, Oct. 3.—Major General Merritt, who, with his staff left Manila on August 30 enroute for Paris, where he will take part in the peace conference, arrived here yesterday and proceeded to the French capital.

Madrid, Oct. 3.—A dispatch from Visayas islands says the Tagales have landed in Antigua province and have been completely defeated by the Spanish column after a sharp fight in which 9 of the insurgents were killed.

The conciliatory and cordial spirit shown by the delegates to the Paris conference has produced a favorable impression. The newspapers, discussing the proceedings of the conference, affect to believe that the United States, beside respecting Spanish sovereignty in the Philippines will also allow Spain to have a share in the settlement of the new regime in Cuba. Inspirated articles assert that Spain will undertake to carry out the promise guarantee of the Cuban debts only until Cuba herself is able to pay the interest and sinking fund. A dispatch to the "Imparcial" from Paris declares that both the Spanish and American commissions have been instructed to act ad referendum.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Secretary Hay has received advices from Judge Day, chairman of the American peace commissioners, which indicate that Judge Day does not share in the forebodings of the Paris newspapers that the Spanish and American commissioners will not come to an understanding. The Paris papers are evidently influenced by a desire to induce the United States to mitigate the terms imposed on Spain but no such outside pressure will have any effect.

Agoncillo and Lopez, the Filipino delegates had a brief interview with the President yesterday, which was entirely informal, it being distinctly understood that the administration did not receive the representatives of the insurgents in any official capacity. Gen. F. V. Greene, who came from the Philippines with them was present throughout the interview. While the Filipinos refused to discuss the interview claiming it to have been "to pay their respects" it is presumed they formally talked over their mission which is to secure representation no the Paris commission, if possible; if not, then to be heard by the commission, as to the attitude and wishes of the insurgents No documents were presented.

Dr. Sternberg and the Red Cross.

The return of the soldiers, with their thin cheeks and their stories of privation, has increased the indignation already felt againt the mismanagement that has exposed our brave men to so much needless suffering There is determination to find just where the blame lies.

Public sympathy from the first has been against Surgeon-General Sternberg's reported opposition to the Red Cross work at the front on the ground that it was "no place for women." Clara Barton and her nurses proved in the Civil war that women could do good service at the front.

Dr. Lyman Abbott's paper, the Outlook. says it is clear that Dr. Sternberg's official medical staff was inadequate to do the work, and that in such an exigency the Medical department ought to avail itself gladly of all the help it can get, and "not to allow either official red tape or false notions of official dignity to stand in the way of practical relief to the sick and wounded." When the country is in danger, a woman's place is wherever she can do good.

But there is a permanent danger from which our country suffers every year far more than it has during the last four months from the blundering gunnery of the Spaniards. This chronic danger is political corruption, the notorious corruption by which in a multitude of our cities the revenues are plundered, and the health, morals and money of the people are sacrificed to shameless greed to gain on the part of unscrupulous politicians. Good men are fighting this corruption bravely, but it is clear that their force is inadequate to do the whole work. Where women have votes, they have proved themselves efficient helpers in this duty. But Dr. Abbott is not willing that women should give this help. He thinks Clara Barton is in her place on a battle field or in a yellow fever camp, but that she would be out of her sphere at a bloodless ballot-box. Clara Barton herself, does not think so. Years ago she sent out her appeal to the veterans to be allowed to help in this even greater work of saving the country in time of peace. "When you were weak and I was strong, I toiled for you. Now you are strong and I am weak. Because of my work for you, I ask your aid. I ask the ballot for myself and my sex: As I stood for you, I pray you stand by me and mine."

It is cheifly "red tape and a false notion official (*M*asculine) dignity" that stand in the way. The secretary of the Navy, Hon. John D. Long calls the opposition to equal suffage "a slowly melting glacier of bourbonism and prejudice." Apply the sunlight of common sense to it. Let the women help.

One Way to Get Married.

From the London News.

Archduke Heinrich, of Austria, it is related in the Kolhische Zeitung desiring to marry *M*iss Leopoldine Hoffmann against the will of the emperor, hit upon the expedient of arranging for the "passive assistance" of a priest, who dared not celebrate a marriage under pain of the emperor's anger. So the archduke gave a banquet, to which he invited the priest. After the soup had been served he rose in his place, on which the guests expected a toast. But the archduke, pointing to Miss Leopoldine Hoffman, pronounced slowly and solemnly the words: "Most reverend, this is my wife." Miss Hoffman immediately afterward rose in her turn and said: "*T*his is my husband." According to the theory of "passive assistance" in Germany and Austria these words spoken before a priest rendered the marriage of the pair valid and sacramentally concluded. The emperor was said to be extremely astonished, but could do nothing, for the church. says: "What God has joined let no man put asunder."

McClure's Magazine for October.

For the story of the Siege of Santiago de Cuba, as it affected the people directly involved, on either side, in their personal safety and comfort and their daily lives, there is no document yet published equa to the October number of McClure's Magazine. Mr. Stephen Bonsal, in an article entitled "The Fight for Santiago," describes the campaign as it affected the American soldier, writing from his own observation and experience; while for the experiences of the panic-stricken and half-starving people shut up in the city of Santiago we have a very remarkable diary kept by the British Consul at Santiago, who was all the time in the closest relations with the Spanish authorities, and was expending—as it later proved—his very life in relieving the general suffering. Mr. Bonsal's article is very fully illustrated—partly from photographs taken in the field by himself, and partly from drawings by W. J. Glackens, the special artist for McClure's with the army of invasion.

Actions of a Rebersburg Man.

C. C. Lose, of Rebersburg, has skipped for parts unknown. Before he left he borrowed $2.500 by giving a mortgage on his property, then made an assignment and left on the next train. His liabilities are about $15.000, with assets about one half that amount. He sent word to his wife through his assignee that she would never see him again. Lose was a prominent man and a Sunday school superintendent. His actions have caused a great sensation.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Sailor Was the Principal Victim of the Tragedy.

HE BELONGED TO THE OREGON

Told the Various Members of the Train Crew of Where He Had Served But Did Not Give His Name.

STARTED HOME WITHOUT ORDERS

About 7 o'clock Tuesday morning a fatal wreck occured on the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Benscreek. Thirteen cars were smashed up by the breaking of an axle. A sailor, recently discharged from the battleship Oregon, was instantly killed; two men D. H. Newman, of Newark, N. J., and Michael Reeder, of Birmingham, Huntingdon county, were somewhat injured.

The name of the dead sailor is problematical. The name "J. Haygouis" was stamped on the handkerchief around his neck. An envelope found in one of his pockets bore the address: "Joseph Corrigan, No. 11 Seeley street, Danbury, Conn." The Johnstown undertaker who has charge of the body has telegraphed to the above address and the Brooklyn navy yard to locate the relatives of the deceased.

"The body of the dead sailor, says Tuesday's Johnstown Tribune," and the two injured men were brought to this city on Johnstown accommodation. The remains of the sailor were taken charge of by Undertaker John Henderson, of Main street. Reeder was sent to his home on the noon train and the other man, who gave his name as D. H. Newman and his place of residence as Newark, N. J., was sent to Altoona on the same train. He will likely be sent home from this place by the poor authorities.

"Newman, who is twenty-five years of age, said he was on his way to Columbus, O., to visit relatives. He was until a short time ago employed in the Brooklyn Navy yard. He met the sailor at Newark last Sunday, when the latter told Newman he was also going to Columbus, and they would travel together if Newman had no objections. They rode on freigh traine to the *M*iddle division of the Pennsylvania railroad where they were taken on board a caboose—possibly on account of the uniform worn by the sailor.

"The sailor did not appear to be over 20 years old. He did not mention his name to his friend or to any of the men in the caboose. He told them that he served two years and a month in the United States navy, having left his home in Indian polis, Ind., on account of some trouble with his father, who is said to be a prominent grain merchant in that city. He served a year on the gun boat Bennington, in the Asiatic squadron, then was sent to Mare Island navy yard, and some time before the battleship Oregon started on its recent trip around the Horn he was transferred to it as a first-class hospital apprentice. He related to the men in the caboose the story of the trip and the battle at Santiago on Sunday July 3, and Mr. Newman said this morning that the young sailor's story of the fight was the most interesting he had ever heard.

"The young man's time in the navy would have expired in a few months and for this reason he did not want to accompany the Oregon on its trip with the battleship Iowa to the Philippines. A few weeks ago he was taken off the Oregon and placed on the Vermont at the Brooklyn navy yard. Later, he was given shore leave of ten days, but was to report to the officers every twenty four hours. He started for home without permission of the naval authorities. He and Newman boarded the train which was wrecked at an early hour this morning west of Altoona. The sailor spread a lot of papers on the floor of the car in order to keep his uniform clean, and he and Newman were fast asleep when the accident occurred.

Winnie Davis.

Friday in Richmond was seen a funeral the like of which is rare in this country. It was the burial of Winnie Davis, the daughter of the leader of secession. When the earth fell upon the coffin of the young woman the tomb closed over the last of the line of Jefferson Davis who bore his name. Winnie Davis was popular with the people of the South. She had been a child of the days of the Confederacy, for which she was borne in tender recollection. But along with that she was a woman of more than ordinary force of character. When left with little to depend upon she turned her hands to her own support, and forgetting the prejudice that stood against the name of her father she went to New York and made a home and a livelihood there among strangers and among those who had been the enemy in an earlier day.

Winnie Davis to the old South was the daughter of their day of sorrows To the younger generation she was a Southern young woman, and one whose estimable American traits of character made her friends. In the funeral of yesterday the hero worship of the lost cause finds its idols shattered. For whatever this young woman represented of the unfortunate president of a misguided movement, the end has come. The hereditary name of *D*avis dies with her, and the romance that hung about the family becomes history only from this date.

With the name of Jefferson Davis the North will have no sympathy, but for the South, which is touched by the death of the woman who was associated with the sacrifices of the past, it is different. The Civil war is ended so long that we can all afford to lament the death of any woman of promise, and particularly when it brings grief to so large a proportion of our whole population.

Made a Good Selection.

"DuBois has been honored by the selection of one of her best known citizens, *M*r. William A. Osborn, as a Republican candidate for state senate. The gentleman is competent to successfully conduct himself in any legislative or executive assembly. For a number of years he has acted as councilmen for the third ward and by his knowledge of parliamentary law, and general fitness for any position, has made his influence felt in the affairs of municipa importance. The Republicans made a good selection, even if it did take two weeks and 95 ballots to accomplish the result."—Dubois is Express, (Dem.)

A Bachelor's Growl.

The volunteers who went to war and put up with four months' cooking by a man who didn't know a stewpan when he met it on the road will hereafter have some idea of the suffering of a man who marries a girl who can't cook and doesn't learn. Thoughts of having to put up with that kind of cooking till death steps in should make the returning soldiers very cautious in selecting wives. The law doesn't promise a mustering out process for a man who has no other reason for complaint than that his wife's meals don't suit him.

Important Timber Deal.

The sale of the large timber tract owned by the late Sosiah Widdowson, on Little Mahoning, in Clearfield county, was closed the latter part of last week. Philadelphia parties are the purchasers and the price paid was $60,000. This tract contains 800 acres, is principally virgin pine and hemlock forests, and is the best timber tract remaining in the county. The pine, which covers a good portion of the tract, is of a fine quality. The land is also underlaid with good veines of coal.

Dr. Herz's discovery of an anti tooth ache microbe is the latest whimsicality of science reported from Germany. It is one, however, in appearance only for, according to the discoverer, the microbe in question not only stops the pain without destroying the nerve but also fixes the tooth if it should become loosened in its socket, thus making possible the introduction of a permanent filling. With microbes curing toothache, making butter and purifying water of malignant bacteria there is no telling what these animalcule may not be trained to do.

SERVICES OF A STATESMAN.

Senator Quay's Labors For the Republican Party.

A MAGNIFICENT ORGANIZER.

BRAVERY ON THE BATTLEFIELD

Which Won For Him a Medal of Honor From a Grateful Government—His Successful Efforts in the Senate in Behalf of Protection to American Industries in General and His Watchful Care of the Industries of Pennsylvania in Particular.

(Special Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—The United States senatorship having become a leading issue in the present campaign, Senator Quay's re-election being involved, our readers will doubtless be interested in a recital of some of the noteworthy events in the unique career of Pennsylvania's senior senator, beside whom, up to the present time, no aspirant for the senatorship has yet entered the contest.

This is a plain sketch of a man—a man of the people. For fulsome flattery of the subject the reader must look elsewhere; for virulent vituperation he is referred to the peregrinating libeler so conspicuously abroad in the land just now.

Matthew Stanley Quay, the son of a Presbyterian clergyman, was born Sept. 30, 1833. He has, therefore, reached the ripe age of 65 years, 43 of which have been spent before the public. Like an open book is his life. He has held various offices—he does not deny that. Not a few of them have been elective offices, where the people have had a chance to vote for or against him. He has never been defeated. Nearly every office held by him he has resigned, in almost every instance to step up higher, by a vote of the people or as the choice of their representatives. If it is a sin to be chosen to public office by the voters themselves, or those representing them, then is Senator Quay a grievous sinner. Those who denounce the holding of office as a crime must be saints, for in almost every case they are men who have been beaten for office whenever they have presented themselves, which usually has been pretty often. Many of the peripatetic orators now at large in the state, denouncing officeholding as a sin, and Senator Quay as a sinner for having held office, belong to the class indicated above.

A BRAVE SOLDIER.

Before becoming conspicuous in civil life Senator Quay attained distinction in military circles. When less than 30 years of age he commanded the One Hundred and Thirty-fourth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers. After the battle of Antietam he become prostrated and enfeebled by typhoid fever, the dread disease which, during our recent war with Spain, has carried to the grave so many gallant American heroes. On account of physical disability he resigned, and his resignation was accepted. This was immediately before the battle of Fredericksburg, Dec. 13, 1862. When it became known that the battle was to take place he asked to be restored to command, in spite of the fact that he was yet weak from his severe illness. But it was too late; he was out of the service. Then he applied to General Tyler, who commanded his brigade, for a place as volunteer aid on his staff. The surgeon objected most vociferously.

"If Colonel Quay goes into battle," was the surgeon's decree, "he will die as a fool dies."

"I would rather die like a fool than live like a coward," was the response of Colonel Quay.

He went upon the staff. That battle was among the bloodiest of the whole war. For his valor the United States government awarded him a medal of honor, a tribute accorded to only a handful of the hundreds of thousands of gallant men who wore the blue. General Tyler, the brigade commander, in his report of the battle, said: "Colonel M. S. Quay, of the One Hundred and Thirty-fourth, was upon my staff as volunteer aide-de-camp, and to him I am greatly indebted. Notwithstanding his enfeebled health, he was in the saddle early and late, ever prompt and efficient, and especially so during the engagement."

Surely it was not a sin to have held that office!

DID THEY WEAR THE BLUE?

By the way, how many of his detractors, now traversing the state, denouncing Senator Quay, were themselves wearers of the blue? Surely not one. In these days, while we honor the heroes of Manila and Santiago, do not let us forget those other heroes who, in 1861-65, by their intrepidity and sacrifices, re-established the great nation and made it possible to win the magnificent battles of 1898.

Subsequently he held the important office of secretary of the commonwealth, serving under those other two heroes of the civil war, Governors Hartranft and Hoyt. Finally, in 1885, he concluded to run for state treasurer, an elective office. He passed through an exciting campaign, in which vilification was the only weapon of his enemies, and was triumphantly elected. From this office he passed, in 1887, by resignation, to that still held by him—United States senator.

AN INSULT TO THE PEOPLE.

In electing him to the above, and other offices held by him, have the people always been wrong, as Senator Quay's maligners would have the public believe? Such a theory is an insult to the intelligence of the people themselves.

Shortly after Senator Quay entered the senate he was made chairman of the Republican national committee, and in that capacity he conducted the great campaign of 1888, which elected General Benjamin Harrison president of the United States. Who does not recall that memorable political battle? Surely the public do remember it, though Senator Quay's detractors would be mightily pleased if people would only forget this period in American history.

Grover Cleveland had served as president for four years, having been declared elected in 1884 over that prince of statesmen, James G. Blaine, by the vote of New York, though it was generally believed, and now generally conceded, that Mr. Blaine had carried New York, but had been counted out in that state, and therefore cheated out of the presidency. Upon the day the great campaign of 1888 opened Chairman Quay registered a vow that there should be no cheating that time, and that in the event of General Harrison's election he should be president. This is what he said:

"This is a Republican state. Blaine was elected. I do not propose that the Democrats shall steal New York from Harrison. The false registration must be stopped. The recount and the change of votes from Harrison to Cleveland must be prevented at all hazards. This must and shall be an honest election."

THE HISTORIC CAMPAIGN OF 1888.

And what a magnificent campaign it was, and how adroitly managed! In spite of the fact that the whole United States government, with its hundreds of thousands of officeholders, was in the hands of the Democrats, and Tammany Hall was then in the zenith of its power, Harrison was elected, having carried New York, though by a small majority. But the contest did not end with the close of the polls in New York. The Tammany machine, finding itself beaten, endeavored to repeat the work of 1884—count out the Republican candidate, and throughout that memorable night and until evening of the following day desperate tactics were resorted to in the effort to count Cleveland in. But Chairman Quay was ready for them, having prepared for just such an emergency. The great conspiracy of the Tammanyites was foiled, and General Harrison was duly declared elected president of the United States. There was no man in America more lauded then than Senator Quay. By universal accord he was declared the most masterful leader known to American politics. His successor as chairman, General J. S. Clarkson, said of him:

"He is the greatest political general that the first century of partisan politics has developed. The Republican party will never know, and it could never repay it if it did know, the services rendered to it in such a time of doubt and peril by Senator Quay."

A MAGNIFICENT TRIBUTE.

When he resigned the national chairmanship, a couple of years after the election, the committee paid him a glorious tribute, saying, among other things:

"In submitting to it [his resignation], with so much of reluctance and personal regret, we desire to express from our own knowledge of the facts of his pre-eminent service to the party, our sense of the deep obligation under which he has placed the Republican party and the cause of good government and patriotism in the United States. He undertook the leadership of a doubtful contest at a time when the Republican party was disheartened and the Democratic party confident in the power of supreme control in the government of the nation, and when the odds of the contest were against our party, and by his matchless power, his unequaled skill in resources, and his genius to command victory, won for his party an unprecedented victory in the face of expected defeat. In the great contest of 1888, in the months of severe effort then, and in the years of personal association with him since, we have learned to know the nobility of the man, and we desire in this conspicuous manner to place on public record, for the present and for the future, as an enduring answer to the partisan assaults of the defeated enemy, our testimony in appreciation of his public services and his personal worth."

How different this from the vilification and abuse now heaped upon him by the irresponsible band of guerillas now tramping up and down the state, who, though claiming to be Republicans, have made an alliance with that Democracy which Senator Quay drove out of power in 1888!

MONEY IN POLITICS.

In the campaign of 1888 a considerable sum of money was spent by the Republican national committee, as there always is in presidential elections; something over $1,000,000 it was in that contest. The amount named, for purposes of organization and education, passed through the hands of Chairman Quay, of the national committee. This sum was raised by a sub-committee, known as the advisory committee, of which John Wanamaker was chairman. And now the Hon. John Wanamaker is traversing the state, denouncing Senator Quay for the "use of money in politics." Is it a sinful act to "use" money in politics, and a saintly act to raise that selfsame money? What a beautiful distinction this is! Surely, "Consistency, thou art a jewel!"

For his share in the memorable campaign of 1888 Mr. Quay was maligned by every Democratic newspaper in America, and in due time the jackals and coyotes of his own party, jealous of his position and influence, took up the cry, and they are still at his heels.

HOW BASE IS INGRATITUDE!

For his share in the 1888 campaign Mr. Wanamaker was made postmaster general, as a personal concession to Senator Quay and his colleagues of the national committee, who presented only this one request to the president-elect. And Mr. Wanamaker had no sooner taken his seat at the cabinet table than he began to establish his own machine in Pennsylvania, antagonistic to the plans and purposes of him by whom he was called from the seclusion of merchandizing to public life.

And still moralists write of gratitude and poets sing of it!

What of Senator Quay's services in the senate? No Pennsylvanian who has occupied a seat in that distinguished body has ever done so much for his native state as Senator Quay.

He is not a handsome man. He would not take first prize at a beauty show. One of his eyes is a little too much out of plumb for that. Nor would he wake the echoes if called upon to address an audience filling the Coliseum of Rome, or the Madison Square Garden of New York city. It is probable he would not be a success as an itinerant stumper, striding up and down the state, heaping abuse upon his enemies. No; he hasn't the voice or the lung power for that. Like the greatest Democratic statesman of the last half of the Nineteenth century, Samuel J. Tilden, Senator Quay's voice is soft and reaches scarcely above a whisper; consequently he has rarely occupied the floor of the senate during the 11 years he has been there.

MEN WHO TALK AND MEN WHO ACT.

The fact is, the "great orator" period in American legislation has passed away, never to return, it is to be hoped. The talking men in the present senate are those who have the least influence. No one ever listens to them any more. The writer of this homely sketch was an officer of the United States senate for several years. During this period he listened to one speech only—the brilliant philippic delivered by President Pro Tem Ingalls when he left the president's chair to excoriate Senator Voorhees, of Indiana. Upon every other occasion the writer of this sketch immediately left the senate chamber whenever a senator arose to make a set speech, and pretty much everyone else did the same thing, including the speaker's colleagues.

While the "orator" was talking to empty benches the silent, working senator was busy in the committee room or cloak room, planning, scheming and arguing with his fellow members to secure legislation for the benefit of his constituents. In this latter phase of legislation, the all important one at the close of the Nineteenth century, Senator Quay was an adept. No one will ever know the full measure of his extraordinary services in behalf of the industries of Pennsylvania. Surely these things have not so soon passed out of the minds of the people of Pennsylvania. The roving band of verbose "orators" now at large in the commonwealth, endeavoring to poison the minds of the people, would be pleased to have them forget these things.

A MEMORABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

His first memorable achievement was in securing the passage, in 1890, of the McKinley tariff bill. It had been hung up in the senate all summer, the Democratic opposition preventing its coming to a vote. Only a politician like Senator Quay could have effected the arrangement whereby action was expedited and an early vote taken, when, of course, the bill passed. This measure was of inestimable advantage to the immense and diversified interests of Pennsylvania.

HIS SKILL AND ADROITNESS.

This is what the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association, one of the most conspicuous trades organs in the United States, said in reference to Senator Quay's connection with the McKinley bill:

"Both in the senate and in the committee of conference Senator Quay's assistance was invaluable in securing the adoption of the rates of duty which were embraced in the McKinley bill as it passed the house. His effort to secure the retention of the original McKinley rates were in the main successful. But this was not the only service Senator Quay rendered to the industries of his state and the country in connection with the McKinley tariff bill. The bill was jeopardized in the senate by the federal elections bill of that year, the so-called 'force bill,' which Republican senators were determined to pass, and which Democratic senators, who were in the minority, were determined to defeat by obstructive tactics, or, in other words, by talking the bill to death. If this scheme of the Democrats had been carried out, they would not only have succeeded in defeating the 'force bill,' but they would also have prevented the passage of the McKinley tariff bill through the senate, as the time consumed in killing the 'force bill' would have prevented the consideration of the McKinley bill. Senator Quay had the skill and adroitness to rescue the McKinley bill from this serious dilemma by securing the adoption of an order of business which gave it the right of way over the 'force bill.' Thenceforward the McKinley bill had plain sailing in the senate."

It was chiefly the passage of this measure that gave us our magnificent president, whose name it bore, and who was the original author of it.

Again, in 1894, when the Democratic Wilson tariff bill was before congress, Senator Quay displayed his great generalship in legislation, and his devotion to the cause of protection as understood and practiced in Pennsylvania. Upon this occasion he found voice enough to talk. Indeed, he threatened to talk the Wilson bill to death unless the interests of Pennsylvania received better treatment in the measure; and in furtherance of this threat he delivered his famous obstructive speech, occupying 12 days in April, May and June, with the promise of more before the bill should come to a vote. He succeeded even beyond his expectations. This is what The Manufacturer, another prominent trades journal, had to say relative to Senator Quay's services at this time:

DEFENDING PENNSYLVANIA'S INTERESTS.

"Whatever may be the faults or the deficiencies of Senator Quay, the manufacturers of Pennsylvania and the country will not soon forget beyond dispute that to his resolute and long continued exertions is due the fact that the Wilson tariff is not more unfriendly to domestic industry. Some of the most important schedules, affecting great Pennsylvania industries, were so modified under the compulsion of Senator Quay as to be deprived of their murderous qualities. The manufacturers and the workingmen in Pennsylvania are better off to the extent of many millions of dollars because of his faithfulness, and now, when he is assailed upon every side, it is but just that an acknowledgment should be made of the value of his services and of the skill and fortitude shown by him in defending the principles of his party and the welfare of his constituents. The contest for higher tariff protection is not yet ended. It will be renewed during Mr. Quay's term as senator, and his services will be again in demand for the defense of home industry from the assaults of foreign capital and European cheap labor."

Strange, isn't it, that the new allies of the Democracy, the so-called "Reformers," now roaming the state, make no mention of Mr. Quay's splendid services in behalf of tariff legislation, so vitally important to every Pennsylvanian? How different their coarse words of malignant vilification and abuse from this splendid tribute from one of the best known men in Pennsylvania, Mr. James M. Swank, editor of the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association:

THE PECPLE SHOULD BE GRATEFUL.

"Kelley and Randall are dead, but Senator Quay, who so valiantly took up the battle for the industries of his native state when the strength of these giants failed them, is still living, and as senator for four more years he will still have these industries in his keeping. It would seem that common, everyday gratitude should now lead the manufacturers of Pennsylvania to manfully stand by the man who has so faithfully stood by them."

Senator Quay's senatorial labors in behalf of Pennsylvania's interests have been noteworthy in other directions than that of tariff legislation, particularly in the matter of internal improvements. He secured a federal appropriation of several millions of dollars, which rescued the Monongahela river from private control, whereby the vast industries of Pittsburg and western Pennsylvania were given a free and adequate outlet to the sea, through that, the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Even greater benefits have accrued to the commerce of Philadelphia and eastern Pennsylvania by the gigantic scheme, for which he has secured congressional and governmental approval, whereby, by the appropriation and expenditure of many millions of dollars, the Delaware river will become navigable to the largest ships that sail the seas, and the port of Philadelphia made as accessible as that of New York, resulting in the revival of the practically defunct commerce of the former city and adjacent territory.

Aside from his efforts in the national senate in behalf of the material interests of Pennsylvania—whereby inestimable benefits have come alike to the workingman and to the employer—the taxpayers of the commonwealth have, in the way of state legislation, been the recipients of incalculable advantages as the result of his interposition.

QUAY AND STATE LEGISLATION.

It was Senator Quay who wrote the plank in the state platform, several years ago, committing the Republican party to large state appropriations to the several counties for school purposes; and, as the result thereof, the sum of over $5,000,000 is now being distributed annually from the state treasury, relieving from local taxation to that extent the individual taxpayers. The people of the state are not likely to forget this in the near future, nor will they fail to give proper credit to Senator Quay for devising such a scheme of legislation.

It was Senator Quay also who wrote the plank in the state platform some years since committing the party to legislation for the equalization of taxation, as desired by the farmers of the state and owners of land generally. And, following his party declaration, revenue legislation was enacted largely increasing the tax rate upon corporation property, money at interest, etc., which, together with the large revenue from licences, provides not only the millions appropriated for school purposes, but, as well, for the charitable institutions of the state, without the slightest increase of the burdens upon the masses.

THE PEOPLE NOT BLIND.

The people of the state know these things, though Senator Quay's vilifiers would fain have them forgotten. In the midst of the harrassing cares at Washington, endeavoring to secure such legislation, through congress, as would best aid and protect the material interests of his constituents, Senator Quay has turned aside from his engrossing duties at the national capital sufficiently to enable him to give some attention to important phases of state legislation at Harrisburg, embracing the measures indicated above, as well as many others for the public welfare. Yet his official duties at Washington, which he has sworn to discharge to the best of his ability, have made it possible for him to closely follow the details of state legislation at Harrisburg. For instance, throughout the entire session of last year, covering nearly seven months, Senator Quay was in Harrisburg only a few hours. Yet the grand cavalcade of guerillas and scandal mongers now perambulating the state would, if they could, make the people believe that Senator Quay is personally responsible for all the shortcomings and the long goings, the doing and undoings, of the famous legislature of 1897. Fortunately, the people of Pennsylvania do their own thinking and their own acting. They are not to be misled by appeals to their prejudices or their passions, which are only effective when addressed to ignorant men.

This is the Matthew Stanley Quay who entered politics in 1855 and whose life has been an open book to the public ever since; the Matthew Stanley Quay who fought valiently for the honor and perpetuity of his country during the civil war; the Matthew Stanley Quay who defeated the Tammany conspiracy of 1888 and elected Harrison president; the Matthew Stanley Quay who, upon every occasion since he has been in the senate, has given his best energies in behalf of the industries of his native state.

Is there anything displeasing in this picture, based upon facts known to all men, and without the garniture of rhetoric?

A VICTIM OF VINDICTIVE ABUSE.

Yet no man known to American politics, save only Alexander Hamilton, has been the recipient of so much and such vindictive abuse. The vials of calumny, heaping to overflowing, have been poured upon him time after time, yet he has never been defeated. The plain people, who are not vilifiers and caluminators themselves, have not believed the miserable stories told by his jealous enemies, and they have stood by him. In 1885, when a candidate for state treasurer; in 1892, when a candidate for re-election to the United States senate, and again in 1895, when a candidate for chairman of the Republican state committee, he was vilified as no other man has ever been in Pennsylvania. Yet he was always successful, simply because the plain people, whose personal ambitions did not clash with his, believed in him, recognized his military, public and party services, and stood by him.

ANOTHER BATTLE IS ON.

Another battle is on; Senator Quay is a candidate for re-election to the senate—not from choice, but from necessity. When a man has reached his mature years—not quite three score and ten, yet three score and five—the holding of public office signifies title. He has grown gray in the service of his party and his state, and a rest from it all—a rest from the harrassments and anxieties of political strife—would be more welcome to him than further honors. If left alone, he would probably have retired voluntarily, for he has resigned from every other office he has held. But what manly, self respecting man—what man who reads these simple words—would retreat under fire; would do anything else except fight to a finish and overthrow and crush the pack of conspirators who have assailed him, and have sought to tarnish his good name as he approaches the later milestones of life?

And that is what they are endeavoring to do, as they have done repeatedly heretofore, but with renewed vigor and violence now. Up and down the state, from county seat to county seat, from village to village, these men are traveling today—men jealous of his influence and of his achievements—seeking to poison the public mind by their misrepresentations and falsehoods.

AN ALLIANCE WITH DEMOCRATS.

They have entered into an unholy alliance with Democrats, Prohibitionists, Populists, Libertyites and Socialists—all the nondescript parties, and alleged parties, forsooth—with a view to the defeat of Republican candidates for the legislature on the 8th of November next, and, as the hoped for result thereof, the prevention of Senator Quay's re-election to the United States senate when the legislature shall meet in January.

But the Republican voters of Pennsylvania can be trusted. The plain people have in past campaigns seen through the selfish purposes of Senator Quay's vilifiers, in spite of the quantities of sawdust thrown into their eyes, and they are as alert and wideawake now as they have always been. Again the plausible, oily tongued conspirators will be overthrown, their selfish schemes will come to naught, and, as the result of the election of Republican legislators in all Republican districts, Senator Quay will be returned to the senate in January next. Thus hypocrisy will be rebuked, fair play will be vindicated, and the will of the people, unmoved by slander or sophistry, will be exhibited in all its omnipotence.

Haul Down the Flag.

Haul down the American flag! This is the object which the Wanamaker-Democratic-Prohibition Populistic alliance has in view.

Down with Stone! Elect a combination Legislature which will send an anti-Republican to the United States Senate. This is what the combination is aiming at.

The loss of a Senator would turn the Senate over to the foes of McKinley and the Republican party, and the glorious results of the war would be lost.

Is the Republican State of Pennsylvania prepared for that?

The most rapidly growing of German cities is Duesseldorf. Twelve years ago it had 100,000 inhabitants. Today it has 190,000.

The Next Senator From Oregon.

On Monday Oct. 4 the Legislature of Oregon met in special session to elect a United States Senator. The seat which is to be filled has been vacant since March 4, 1897, the Legislature next preceding that date having failed to elect a Senator to fill the post held by John H. Mitchell, of Portland. The Governor subsequently appointed H. W. Corbett to fill the seat, but the United States Senate decided against his eligibility on the ground that a Governor has no right to appoint when a Legislature refuses to act.

Both branches of the Oregon Legislature are now Republican, having won at the recent election on sound money lines, and there is little doubt that they will make a selection quickly and then adjourn. According to law the session can only last twenty days, so the leaders will act promptly after assembling. The chances now favor the election of Mr. Corbett, who is a sound money high tariff man, but there is a vigorous opposition in the field headed by the friends of ex-Senator Mitchell who wants to go back to his accustomed haunts at Washington.

FLAMES' BIG WORK.

They Continue to Devastate Portions of the West.

THE MONETARY LOSS IS LARGE

Much Valuable Pine Being Burned Away Despite the Endeavors of the Owners—Many Counties Ravaged. Etc.

ONLY ONE DEATH IS REPORTED

CUMBERLAND, Wis., Oct. 1.—Cumberland presents a sad sight today. The mill portion of the country is a smouldering heap of ruins. Loss about $185,000. Forest fires were swept into the city from the southwest about 5 o'clock Thursday night by a tornado. The air was filled with smoke and burning cinders and the fire on the east and west sides of town about the same time. The flames spread with a rapidity that threatened not only the entire city, but the lives of the inhabitants. Every part of the town was filled with smoke and flying fire brands and the people were running in every direction panic-stricken. Two freight trains standing here took about 200 people to Shell Lake and hundreds more sought the Western Lake Shore for safety.

Meanwhile the volunteer fire department did heroic work in trying to save the business portion of the city. A timely downpour of rain, lasting about twenty minutes, enabled the firemen to check the progress of the flames on the west side of the city, but nothing could save the city east of the Omaha road, including the lumber yard and the mills of the Beaver Dam Lumber company and the residences, including the fine houses of Mayor Waterman. The buildings burned were the combined saw and shingle mill, planing mill, dry sheds and barns of the Beaver Dam Lumber company; twenty-two residences, boarding house, livery stable and saloon. The loss is roughly estimated as follows: Beaver Dam Lumber company, $15,000; residences, $25,000; livery, barn, saloon and other buildings, $10,000.

All the property was insured except the residences, which were nearly all without insurance. About forty farmers southeast of the city lost all their homes and crops.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Oct. 1.—The forest fires are still creating great havoc through this section of the state. No rain has yet fallen in the district tributary to this point, and the lumber companies are sending hundreds of men into the woods in an endeavor to save the standing pine. It is estimated that already 300,000,000 million feet have been destroyed. All trains coming into Chippewa Falls from the north and west are hours late, The Wisconsin Central is experiencing great difficulty in handling traffic, as the wires are all down. A movement has been started to assist the homeless farmers who have been burned out. Thousands are still fighting the flames, but are making little headway, as everything is as dry as tinder.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 1.—Battlement government reserve, bounded by the Grand river on the north, Roaring Fork on the east, and the Gunnison on the west, is a mass of flames. This reserve runs through the counties of Garfield, Delta and Mesa. The big White River government reserve, starting in Garfield county and extending through the Routt and Rio Blanco, is also on fire.

Reliable reports show that the fires are now nearly 300 miles in circumference, with Glenwood for a centre and practically every mountain range with timber is ablaze. The only cessation of the fire that is reported comes from Cottonwood and Four Mile creeks where the flames have consumed everything that will burn on the mountain side.

On the south side of the Rio Grande, from Minturn to Glenwood, the railroad men report a steady blaze of fire plainly visible from the smaller valleys. Many ranches have been abandoned. There appears to be no hope of a cessation of the conflagration except by a heavy rain or the demolition of the timber by the destroying element.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Ground to Death.

Falling into a seething, swirling mass of liquid cement, stirred up by immense revolving paddles, Israel Carroll, aged 56 years, was injured in such a terrible manner yesterday that his death resulted at the Pennsylvania hospital a few minutes after being admitted. Carroll resides at 2855 North Eleventh street Phila.

The scene of the accident was at Queen street wharf, Delaware river. There the unfortunate man was employed to look after the mixing machine, an immense affair with revolving paddles, which move in a big mortar box. Over the box was a long board so that the workmen might walk across the top and see to the mechanism. Just how the accident occured no one seemed to know but it is supposed that Carroll was walking over the board and fell in. All the other workmen knew, was hearing a terrified scream, and when they turned they beheld a terrible sight.

In the centre of the mortar box, being struck and twirled by every paddle was the unconscious form of their fellow-workman. The machinery was stopped and the bleeding form was taken out. Carroll's head was a mass of bruises, his chest was crushed in, all the ribs on the left side were broken, his lungs were pierced by the splinters of bone, his left forearm was fractured and besides internal injuries it was afterward learned that his jaw was broken.

What is the cause of all this? Impure blood.

And the remedy?

HOWARD'S BIG DAY.

A Grand Reception Tendered Co. B By Citizens of that Town.

The pretty and hospitable town of Howard, the third in size in Centre county, did herself proud Friday, by the grand celebration in honor of the soldier boys of Company B, 5th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, who so recently returned from Chickamauga and Lexington.

The weather was fine, not a cloud in the sky, and a crowd estimated at six thousand people thronged the streets of this historic town.

Company B about forty strong under command of Captain H. S. Taylor and Lieutenant George L. Jackson, went down to Howard on the morning train, accompanied by the Undine band and a large delegation of Bellefonte people.

The parade which took place at 10:30 a. m. was one of the largest ever witnessed in that part of the country.

Cap. S. H. Bennison lead the procession followed by his aides, the chief burgess and members of town council, carriage with speakers, Undine band, Grove Post No. 382, G. A. R. of Howard; Gregg Post No. 95 of Bellefonte; George L. Potter Post No. 216 of Milesburg; Harleman Post No. 202 of Blanchard; Co. B, 5th Regt. Penna. Vols; the P. O. S. of A with the Howard and Bellefonte drum corps; bicycle club of Howard with 33 members in line. A company of cavalrymen twenty-five in number, and last but not least a gayly decorated wagon containing a number of Howard's most beautiful young ladies. They were Misses Clara Kline, impersonating "Miss Columbia," Sarah Lucas, Nellie Burns Anna Weber, Mary Weber, Maude Schenck, Ada Heverly, Josie Kunes, Sallie Wistar, Annie Lucas, Nannie Lucas, Betty Stitzer and Maude Hopkins.

As there had to be some gentlemen to assist the ladies on and off the wagon Mr. Oscar Yeager and Chauncey De Long acted in that capacity.

After the parade a meeting was organized at the grand stand, Hon. John A. Woodward, of Howard presiding.

Rev. Sechrist lead in prayer; address of welcome by Rev. A. P. Wharton; responded to by Capt. H. S. Taylor, followed by an address by Hon. John G. Love.

At noon a grand banquet was served in the rear of the High school building to Company B, visiting organizations and invited guests. There was an abundance of good things, chicken, cold meats, cake, coffee, ice cream and all other delicacies of the season were served. Everybody was satisfied and there was lots left over.

At the afternoon meeting addresses were made by D F. Fortney Esq., and Rev. E. E. Manley which were followed by a splendid exhibition drill by Company B. All the different movements of the manual of arms setting up exercises and extended order drill were preformed with marvelous skill and precision, which elicited hearty applause.

In the evening there was a fine exhibition of fireworks. We cannot close this article without paying a well deserved compliment to the people of Howard for their generous hospitality and to the committee in charge for the splendid success of the celebration.

The following committees were in charge:

Committee on Arrangements—J. Norris Bogle, chairman; A. Weber, J. Will Mayes, H. A. Moore.

Committee on Provisions—D. R. Wilson, chairman, S. H. Bennison, Hunter Thomas, Max Allison, H. C. Holter, Chas. Woodward and J. Grant Swires,

Committee on Finance—John S. Holter, chairman; S. Frank Holter; John Weber, Hayes Schenck, Will Weber, W. H. Long and John A. Daley.

Capt. S. H. Bennison was chief Marshall of parade, and J. Norris Bogle chief of staff.

MR. CROKER is at present a much bigger man than David B. Hill. He will soon begin to cherish presidential aspirations. If the anti Quay republic-democratic prohibition combination succeeds in its attempts upon this state and scores a democratic victory, Croker will be greatly encouraged Sorrowing Death.

MILESBURG, Oct. 1, 1898,

MR. EDITOR.—

Truly sad indeed, was the death of the dear little angel child, of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lamb of North Allegheny street on Monday morning the 26th of Sept. inst.

The facts are about as follows: The child a bright, sweet little, brown haired girl, of nearly five years of age, had staid all night at the home of Mr. Emanuel Noll, as had been its custom for many weeks before. An alley only seperating, the two homes. It was an admired pet, of the entire Noll family, and passed much of its time there. On this predestined morn Anna, as loving as usual, and as thoughtful, as ever, of her mamma and home, had gone into a small room communicating only, with the kitchen, in which Mrs. Noll was getting water, from a spiggot in a coffee pot, when the child asked for a drink, receiving it, she said "I am going home to mamma." Mrs. Noll going to the kitchen to the stove, and Jane Beck who lived in the family, was also in the little room, and had raised a small trap door, in the corner of the room, and drew from it a bucket of water, out of the cistern beneath, leaving trap door open, and carrying it to the stove, but a short distance away, and immediately turned to return, for another bucket just as she heard the splash in the water, made by Anna dropping into the cistern, she at once screamed, Anna has fallen into the cistern, no man being at either home. The families became almost frantic, to save the life of the child, so precious to them, and every moment was utilized, to secure something to rescue it.

The writer had just passed the house, but a few feet when he heard the first alarm from Mr. Nolls house and he at once ran back, and in less than a minute, was in the room, from which the child had fallen, it being not well lighted, and only about five foot square, and sink at one side of the room and in the corner of it, an iron pump, from the cistern, which would flow its water into the sink stood, and just along side of it a trap door about fourteen inches square opened into the cistern, and when it was raised there was scarcely room for any man to get through it. Without the least means to assist, in going into a pit as dark as a dungeon and without any knowledge whether it was ten or fifty feet deep, but as soon as a garden rake could be obtained and a lantern the writer got into it by holding to the top and with one foot on about four inches of a projecting piece or scantling and hanging the lantern inside on a very small plastering lath and with the rake in one hand succeeded in drawing the child some distance to him as the cistern is about fifteen feet in length, and the water something over six feet in depth, and at once raised it, and with difficulty got it out of the small opening and at once took it to the porch and laid it upon a comfort, turned it upon its face and with the assistance of kind friends present, we made the usual prompt efforts, to resuscitate until Dr. G. F. Harris arrived and whilst he had no hope of its restoration, the efforts were continued for about an hour but without success. Every effort was promptly made from the first moment, until the last moment of hope by every one that could render assistance to save its precious life—Gods will should be our will.

IN THE INTEREST OF LABOR.

The Records of Two Political Parties Offered in Evidence.

[Spokane Chronicle.]

The Republican party claims, and justly, that it is the friend of labor. Its efforts have always made in the direction of the best interests of the working classes. During the term of President Harrison, under the administration of the McKinley Tariff law, industry developed and the toiler prospered. Cut, with the inauguration of Cleveland and the enactment of the Wilson law by the Democratic Congress industry was crushed and the willing workman cast out of employment. The panic that almost overwhelmed the nation, the poverty stricken condition of the idle thousands need no recital at this time. Many of the laborers of today went through that awful experience and those who did not can learn the facts from fellow workmen. Hundreds and thousands of honest citizens became demoralized. Some remedy for such conditions must exist. Where should it be found? Then came the free silverites with specious reasoning and smooth promises. They offered a "cure-all." No patented remedy in all the realm of advertising was designed to heal so large a number of ills.

That is an old story, however. It is sufficient to say that the remedy was not tried. Something else was tried, and with what excellent results. The nation is splendidly convalescent. A broadened scope for exercise of the developing powers is all that is necessary to the complete cure. The operation of the Dingley Tariff law has brought that greatest blessing to the laboring classes—employment. Work and plenty of it at increasing wages to all sorts of mechanics and laborers. Democratic papers deride the law for its apparent failure to produce sufficient revenue for the expenses of Government. What of that? Heavy receipts of customs duties are proof of heavy importations of foreign products. The effect of the Dingley law is and has been that American labor is now more largely employed in supplying the needs of the American people than ever before, and the reports of the Bureau of Statistics show how greatly increased is the sum total of exports to foreign lands.

The Republican party has had passed by Congress a law providing for the settlement of disagreements between railway companies and their employees by arbitration, which met the hearty approval of the labor organizations.

Then followed the act passed by Congress and approved by the President June 18, authorizing "the appointment of a non-partisan commission to collate information and to consider and reccommend legislation to meet the problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital." This commission is to consist of five United States Senators five members of the House and nine citizens appointed by the President. These citizens shall fairly represent the different industries and employments. The duties of the commission shall be to investigate questions pertaining to immigration, to labor, to agriculture, to manufacturing, to business, and to report to Congress and suggest such legislation as it may deem best on these subjects. This law also has the indorsement of the various labor organizations.

The Democratic party under its old leaders has been tried and proven a failure; the delusive theories of the Populistic Democrats were happily avoided. Meanwhile the Republican party has stood by its old cry, "Protection to American industries." The results of such Protection are at hand, and, with the other and further efforts toward betterment of the condition of the great army of workers, are offered in evidence.

MILLERS AT STATE COLLEGE.

Pleasantly Entertained By President Atherton and His Associates.

As a fitting wind up to a most successful convention the Bellefonte committee arranged for a delightful excursion for the State Millers' Association to the beautiful Pennsylvania State College and return, Wednesday Sept. 28. As a result of this arrangement five carloads of people pulled out of the Union station at 1:15 p. m. enroute through fertile Buffalo Run Valley to the College.

The Bellefonte Central Railroad Co., deserves credit for the way they handled the excursion, and every official from Superintendent F. H. Thomas down were as kind and courteous as could possibly be.

On arriving at the College the Millers and their friends were met by some of the College professors and escorted to the beautiful chapel where President Atherton awaited them.

When all were seated the College Mandolin club opened the afternoon's enjoyment with two delightful selections. After this the scholarly president of the College, Dr. G. W. Atherton, in a few well chosen words extended to them a hearty and cordial welcome to the Pennsylvania State College. He also in a brief manner explained the work of the institution.

After his address the meeting adjourned and the visitors were shown the different points of interest. All the departments were in full operation. The first place visited was the Mechanical Building. Here are the machine shops, pattern rooms, blacksmith shops, moulding room, electrical department etc. In the basement of this building the visitors were shown one of the largest engines in the world made expressly for State College.

From there they were taken to the Laboratory or Chemical building, and to the Botanical building, and the visitors were allowed to see the vast scope of work covered by this wonderful institution.

At 3:30 carriages were awaiting the guests in front of the main building and those who were tired walking were driven to the Experimental station and over the farms. All the points of interest were carefully explained by Professors who acted as guides. And every courtesy possible was shown the visitors.

At 4:30 o'clock there was a carriage drive to Lemont for those who desired to see the Thompson mill at Centre Furnace.

And so the afternoon passed away very pleasantly. Many of the visitors took the advantage of the opportunity to climb to the top of the main building and there gaze upon one of the finest views in the world. Beautiful Penns Valley, Buffalo Run Valley and a part of Brush Valley lay unfolded at their feet. All nature smiling and one of the most lovely spots in the world, what better could you ask than an afternoon's outing at such a time and place.

At 5:45 the train left for Bellefonte and the Millers were loud in their expressions of delight and praise for this grand institution and it is safe to say they will leave here with many pleasant recollections of their trip to Bellefonte and State College.

A SUNDAY EVENING BLAZE.

The Home of Michael Kelly On Beaver Street Burned.

On Sunday evening about eight o'clock fire broke out near the roof of the residence of Michael Kelly on Beaver street. The churches were just being dismissed when the fire alarm was sounded and everyone hurried in the direction indicated. Both fire companies were soon on the scene and everything possible was done to save the building but it had burned with such rapidity that it was soon seen to be doomed and the only thing to do was to save the adjoining buildings which was an easy task as fortunately there was no wind stirring.

The origin of the fire is believed to have been from a defective flue. There was no one at home when it broke out except the oldest daughter, Miss Mary Kelly, all the rest were at church. She was sitting on the front porch when the reflection of the fire shining on another house attracted her attention and on looking up she discovered the whole roof of her home was on fire. She at once ran to the neighbors for assistance but as most everybody in the neighborhood was either in bed or at church, the fire gained considerable headway before help could be secured.

They at once went to work and succeeded in getting part of the furniture out, but all the carpets, bedding and some other furniture was burned.

The property was owned by Mr. Kelly and his loss is estimated at $1.000 with $900.00 insurance.

A New Business Firm.

A new business firm was organized at this place Tuesday Sept. 27. The members of this firm are James Harris, James H. Potter and Edward Hoy trading under the names of Harris, Potter & Hoy. The business of the firm is the handling of window glass as manufacturers agents It is their intention to take the entire product of the Bellefonte Window Glass Company and market it Although the product of this factory has always been of a high quality and a good seller, yet the above business arrangement cannot help but be beneficial. The men composing the new firm are hustling energetic men and with them handling the product of this factory it cannot fail to be a great success.

It Was Loaded.

On Sunday afternoon ten year old Alvin Fetters and some playmates found what proved to be a loaded dynamite cartridge. With the usual boyish curiosity they wanted to find out if it was any good, so Alvin placed it on a stone and struck it with a hatchet. Instantly there was a terrific explosion and pieces of the shell struck young Fetters in the face and neck wounding him seriously.

He was taken to the home of his father Samuel Fetters on Potter St., and medical attendance was summoned. It was found that several gashes were cut in his face and neck. His condition is very serious and it is feared blood poisoning will set in.

Elopers Caught.

Mrs. C. H. Diem and Thomas O Symington eloped from Tyrone on August 31st and have been caught at Cedar Rapids, Ia. The man is in jail there and the woman has been arrested, not because Mr. Diem wants her back, but he does want to secure his little daughter whom the mother took with her. Symington has been married twice before, but has separated from both women.

Mrs. Diem comes of a good family and had a very estimable husband. He is a P. R. R. telegraph operator and agent and has often been here with his wife and child while relieving H. L. Hutchinson.

OUR BOROUGH FATHERS.

Some Important Business Transacted At Their Session Monday Night.

The regular meeting of the Bellefonte town council was held Monday evening with the following members present:

Messrs. Gerberich, Lowery, Valentine, Houser, Garrity, Shefler, Wetzel, Keller and Tripple.

After the reading of the minutes by the clerk the regular business was taken up.

A petition was received from citizens requesting a boardwalk along West High street, on the south side, from Mrs. Barbara Rankin's residence to St. Paul street.

Street committee reported work done on Reynolds avenue, West High street and Bishop street; repairing Lamb street bridge, also bridge near Reynolds' mill. etc.

Water committee reported placing in position new water plugs. They suggested placing a plug on Cherry alley near Schofield's shop, also one opposite Garman's hotel. The new plugs are giving splendid satisfaction. Col. W. Fred Reynolds offers to contribute towards the placing of a plug in the vicinity of his stable.

Fire and Police committee reported the burning of house of Michael Kelly, on Beaver street. One section of hose bursted at this fire.

Market committee reported the collecting of $8.00 market fees during past two weeks.

A complaint was made to Nuisance committee of the dumping of filth and rubbish on North Allegheny street.

The architect having the contract for building stable on Gov. Hastings' property was notified not to build it within 30 feet of Lamb street. This establishes a precedent for future cases of this kind. He can build a carriage house 20 feet from Lamb street.

The report of the Finance committee was as follows:

—The need of keeping the telephone exchange open all day Sunday was evidenced by Sunday nights fire on Beaver street. As soon as discovered there was a rush for the nearest telephone to turn in the alarm but the office was closed. The Logans tried to telephone for horses to haul their engine but could not get them and were compelled to haul it by hand thus delaying them sometime. Other instances could be given in which people are put to an inconvenience by the closing of the exchange the greater part of Sunday.

Burglary at Howard.

On Saturday night burglars broke into the office of William H. Long, the Prohibition candidate for the legislature and manufacturer of granulated wheat, at Howard, Pa. They blew open the safe and stole valuable papers and about ten dollars in money. The loss was not discovered until Sunday morning. No clue as to the identity of the burglars has been obtained.

An Exciting Runaway.

Tuesday afternoon an exciting runaway occured on Bishop street. Corney Garman and his little son, Daniel, were driving down that thoroughfare about 3 o'clock behind Bruce Garman's fast pacer. When opposite Keller's hotel the brichten broke sending the buggy against the horse and frightening it badly. Down Bishop street they came at a breakneck speed, and when in the vicinity of the Academy the horse ran into the gutter, throwing little, Daniel out. Mr. Garman succeeded in stopping the horse without further damage. The little boy received a bump on his head but was not seriously hurt and is all right this morning.

A horse belonging to Andy Mott, the marble cutter, also ran away sometime during the afternoon but was caught before any damage was done.

The Ernest Gamble Recital.

One of the finest concerts ever given in this city took place Friday evening in the Presbyterian church. The attraction was Ernest Gamble, the world famous bass soloist, assisted on the piano by Miss Nellie Risher, an accomplished musician. The large church was well filled with one of Bellefonte's music-loving audiences, and it can be safely said that their greatest anticipations for an evening of rare enjoyment were more than realized. Mr. Gamble won a reputation among our people as a singer that anyone could be proud of. From his first number to the enthusiastic encore for the closing piece he delighted his hearers with the magnificent quality of his voice, his wonderful execution, power and feeling, a voice which he held under complete control of the purest bass quality.

Miss Nellie Risher, the pianist, rendered several difficult pieces and was heartily encored. All together it proved a most successful entertainment.

Funeral of Little Anna Lamb.

Solemn and appropriate funeral services were held at St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 10 o'clock a.m. over the remains of little Anna Lamb, the five-year-old daughter of Michael Lamb, who met death by drowning in a well Monday morning.

There was a large attendance of friends of the unfortunate little one, and some beautiful floral tributes were received. The services were conducted by Rev. George J. Brown rector of the church, who preached a touching and eloquent sermon.

The pall bearers were selected from the choir boys of the church. They were: Thomas McClellan, John Lane, Samuel Hart and Clarence Longacre. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

—Last week's Millheim Journal contains the following:—Prothonotory W. F. Smith came down from Bellefonte last week with "plumbago" in his back, and walks around with a cane. He had parties drilling a well at the residence of his mother at Smithtown. They reached a depth of 103 feet, with about 30 feet of water. The object in boaring so deep is that he may at some future time put up a wind pump, Mr. Smith, in assisting to remove the engine, came near meeting with an accident that in all probability would have terminated fatally. He was standing near the engine with a block of wood to put under the wheel to keep it from running back when it toppled over and struck him on the back, and had it not been that it caught on a fence nearby, it would have crushed him as fine as powder. Bill says if it hadn't been for the fence it would have squeezed him into the ground about nine inches.

Death of Cyrus Wasson.

On Thursday evening September 29th, at half past five o'clock, Cyrus Wasson, died at his home near Lemont. For many years he had been a sufferer from stomach trouble and this with heart failure was the cause of his death.

He was seventy-one years old and was born July 12th 1827. He had always resided near the place of his birth, one mile west of Lemont. He is survived by his wife and three sons, John F., Samuel B., and Robert U.

Two of his children Dr. James E., and Mary J., preceeded him to the grave a few years ago.

The funeral occured on Monday at half past nine o'clock. The services were conducted by Revs. D. E. Hepler and A. A. Black. Interment at Branch cemetery.

The deceased was a highly respected citizen of the community in which he lived and as a mark of their respect there were over five hundred people in attendance at the funeral, some coming a distance of 8 or 9 miles. There were sixty or seventy carriages in the procession. The services were held at the house and the body reposed in a handsome walnut casket.

The family of the deceased have the sincere sympathy of the whole community in this their hour of affliction.

A Sad Incident of the War.

One of the sad incidents of the late war with Spain was the death of Thomas Mahaffey, of McGee's Mills, Clearfield county, which occurred at Lexington, Ky., about three weeks ago. He was a brother of Harry Mahaffey, who was a student at the Bellefonte academy for two years and now holds a prominent business position in Alabama.

Tom enlisted when the war broke out, against the protests of his friends. He was a member of one of the Clearfield companies. He had intended to attend the academy at this place this fall, and a letter from his father at Lexington, Ky., written to Prof. Hughes, states that Tom had looked forward with great pleasure to being able to come to Bellefonte to school.
